M'Carthy, Welch Clash Again

Sen. Flanders Seeks Ouster Of McCarthy

Demands Senate Strip Wisconsin Solon Of Powers To Investigate

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) demanded today that the Senate strip Sen. McCarthy of his investigative powers as a committee chairman until McCarthy purges himself of "contempt" by answering "charges" made against him in 1952.

Before delivering this open challenge on the Senate floor, Flanders confronted the Wisconsin senator at the McCarthy-Army hearings and served written notice that he intended to make the address. It was Flanders' third speech against McCarthy in recent weeks.

McCarthy Not Interested

McCarthy's first comment was, "I don't have enough interest in any Flanders speech to listen to it." Shown a copy of the address later, he remarked:

"I think they should get a man with a net and take him to a good quiet place."

Flanders smiled when he heard about this and said, "Oh, he must think I'm a butterfly who ought to be carried to a quiet place."

In calling for McCarthy's ouster as chairman of the Government Operations Committee and its Investigations subcommittee, Flanders asserted McCarthy is in contempt of "the whole Senate" because of his refusal to appear two years ago before a Senate group which investigated his finances and other activities.

"It is no defense to call the charges a 'smear,'" the 73-year-old Vermonter said. "A smear is a most annoying thing and one which is perhaps (I would not speak definitely) not unknown to the junior senator from Wisconsin.

"But there is this about a smear. It can be removed by a dry cleaning process which involves a vigorous application of the truth. That process the senator was unwilling to apply. The smear remains, of course."

Flanders was harking back to the work of a three-man Senate subcommittee set up in 1952 to investigate charges against McCarthy by former Sen. Benton (D-Conn) and countercharges made by the Wisconsin senator. The subcommittee was composed of Senators Hennings (D-Mo), Hayden (D-Ariz) and Hendrickson (R-NJ).

Sums Up Questions

The "charges" against McCarthy, Flanders said, "were summed up in six questions, which the committee worded as follows:"

"Whether under the circumstances it was proper for Sen. McCarthy to receive $10,000 from the Lustron Corp. (for a booklet about housing).

"Whether funds supplied to Sen. McCarthy to fight communism or for other specific purposes were diverted to his own use.

"Whether Sen. McCarthy used close associates and members of his family to secrete receipts, income, commodity and stock speculation and other financial transactions for ulterior motives.

"Whether Sen. McCarthy's activities on behalf of certain special interest groups, such as housing, sugar and China were motivated by self-interest.

"Whether loan or other transactions Sen. McCarthy had with Appleton (Wis.) State Bank or others involved violations of the tax and banking laws.

No Law Violation In Evidence

"Whether Sen. McCarthy violated federal and state corrupt practice acts in connection with his 1944-46 senatorial campaigns or in connection with his dealings with Ray Kiermas (McCarthy's administrative assistant)."

Last October, Atty. Gen. Brownell said the 1952 Senate subcommittee report contained no evidence that McCarthy violated any law coming within the Justice Department's jurisdiction. Brownell added that the Treasury was still investigating the senator's income taxes. Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews reported earlier this week this inquiry will be wound up within 60 days.

Seven Are Hurt In Takeoff Crash At Memphis Field

MEMPHIS, June 11 (AP)—A powerful jet plane faltered on takeoff and smashed through a Memphis Naval Air Station aviation mechanics' school like a flaming meteor today.

Five persons died in the furious fire fed by fuel splashed from the stricken F7U Navy Cutlass. Seven were injured, one seriously.

The sleek fighter screamed down the runway, lifted, then swerved into a deadly dive from an altitude of about 300 feet. It flashed by a water tower, about 1,000 yards off the runway, sliced the top off a low aluminum "hut," then ripped through the two-story gray-shingle school.

Kills Woman Employe

The dead included the pilot and a woman civilian employe.

The flier was identified as Lt. Robert Woolverton, 33, a six-plane ace in World War II, stationed at Dallas as a Navy test pilot. His next of kin was listed as his mother, Mrs. Sadie Woolverton of Abilene, Kans.

The civilian secretary was listed as Mrs. Elaine House Branch, Millington, Tenn., wife of a retired Navy chief.

The other bodies, badly marred in the fire, could not be identified without extensive checking.

The Navy canceled its afternoon air show, part of the station's three-day Navy festival, an annual open house affair at the sprawling base 15 miles north of here.

Vice Adm. A. K. Doyle, chief of naval air training at Pensacola, Fla., here for the festival, convened a board of inquiry to determine the cause of the accident.

Area Blocked Off

Crowds expected for the afternoon air show had just begun to trickle onto the station when the crash occurred. The area was quickly blocked off.

The pilot had taken the Cutlass, a swept-wing, supersonic twin jet faster than the speed of sound, up for practice in close formation flying. The plane and two others of its type were flown here yesterday for the show.

Middies Are Given Okay By Security

Directive In Money Bill Demands Speed Up Of Investigations

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas today announced the security clearance of three midshipmen whose officers' commissions were withheld when they graduated with their class last Friday from the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Thomas expressed regret that the task of investigating the backgrounds of all 854 members of the graduating class was so large that it could not be completed before graduation day.

The secretary's announcement means that the three—Harold Pollack, Hartford, Conn., Paul Shimek Jr., Hazen, Ark., and Peter Yadlowsky, Jersey City, N.J.—are now eligible to become officers immediately without any loss of seniority.

Consistent With Security

The announcement said their commissioning is "clearly consistent with the interests of national security," the customary endorsement. It came within hours after the Senate Appropriations Committee ordered the Defense Department to speed up and coordinate its security and loyalty investigations.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) said the directive was written into the department's annual money bill chiefly as a result of the case of the three midshipmen and the Army-McCarthy hearing testimony involving Dr. Irving Peress.

As approved by the committee for Senate action, the bill contains more than 29 billion in defense funds for the fiscal year starting July 1. This is about one billion less than President Eisenhower requested, but would supplement an estimated 48 billion dollars still available from previous years' appropriations.

The Senate committee added $177,334,000 in new cash to funds voted by the House, of which $163,550,000 would go to the Air Force and $13,284,000 to the Navy. This would raise the Air Force figure in the bill to $10,982,860,000 and the Navy's to $9,719,122,500. The Army's allotment of $7,619,066,986 was left unchanged.

Add Half Million To Fund

Ferguson, who will manage the bill on the Senate floor, said the committee added half a million dollars to Secretary of Defense Wilson's office fund of 12½ million to "speed up its clearance of military and civilian security cases."

Asserting the committee wants "prudent but timely action," Ferguson told reporters Wilson's department is being asked to "coordinate all security investigations under a single civilian official if possible."

This official, he said, should stress two points:

"First, that the due process of law and rights of all individuals be respected;

"Second, that the security of the United States government be protected."

Posse Hunts Kidnaper

Stormy Row Helps Enliven 32nd Session

Cohn Also Battles With Sen. Jackson And Attorney Kennedy

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy crossed swords with Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch for the second time in three days at the McCarthy-Army hearings today, and the proceedings were further enlivened by a serio-comic dispute about the "Schine plan" to sell democracy through the world.

Welch, who accused the Wisconsin senator of reckless cruelty two days ago, pleaded with him this afternoon to give a clean bill of health to Pvt. G. David Schine's former commanding officer.

"Aren't you capable of a single affirmative kindness?" Welch asked McCarthy.

"Vaudeville act!" McCarthy hit back.

He said he's convinced that Schine's former commander, Col. Earl Ringler, is a good officer—that he has nothing against him except that the colonel once was reported to have called a McCarthy investigation a "witch hunt".

New Personal Row

The 32nd day of the stormy proceedings also brought on a new personal row between Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) and Roy M. Cohn, regular chief counsel of the McCarthy Investigations subcommittee.

It stemmed from a statement by McCarthy during the hearing that Schine, when he was a subcommittee consultant, saved the taxpayers 10 million dollars by forcing cancellation of an overseas broadcasting station in Jackson's home state of Washington.

Jackson disputed this, contending Schine withheld technical information from the subcommittee. Cohn challenged Jackson and announced he would answer the senator's "erroneous statements" Monday.

Cohn then tangled with Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Democrats on the Investigations subcommittee, and Kennedy told reporters Cohn said "we are going to get" Jackson on Monday.

Cohn said he told Kennedy that he thought Kennedy "had a personal hatred" and asked him if he thought somebody with such a hatred "should sit here and take part in the proceedings by advising Democratic senators."

Democratic Senators Symington (Mo) and Jackson set out to get the McCarthy camp's goat with needling questions about Schine—ranging from the alleged loneliness of his girl friends when the Army drafted him, to the value of a plan Schine once submitted to the State Department for a worldwide "deminform"—an alliance of free peoples in the battle "for men's souls."

Jackson lampooned the five-page plan as a hodge-podge of not very practical suggestions.

It was Symington who brought up the subject of Schine's girl friends.

He quizzed McCarthy at some length about the senator's telling Army Secretary Stevens—in a monitored telephone call — that Schine might be given some weekend passes from Ft. Dix, N. J., lest his girl friends get lonesome.

McCarthy said he obviously was joking when he made that remark.

Asked Name Check

Welch, reserving the bulk of his cross - examination for Monday, harked back to testimony that McCarthy ordered a name-check on Col. Ringler, who was Schine's regimental commander at Ft. Dix.

He developed that a "name check" is a rundown by the FBI or such other bodies as the House Committee on un-American activities to see if they have any information against an individual in their files. McCarthy said nothing derogatory to Ringler was discovered.

Jackson first began his needling of the McCarthy side by asking why Cohn and Schine had the subcommittee pay for 11 telephone calls from New York to Washington in connection with Schine's application for an Army commission.

McCarthy said he had no idea. Probably, he said, they repaid the subcommittee at the end of the month. In any case, he said, he didn't begrudge a few phone calls to Schine, who donated his services to the subcommittee and paid most if not all of his own expenses.

During the morning session McCarthy said Secretary of the Army Stevens made a "gross mistake" and "highly improper" decision when he approved the filing of charges of improper pressure against the McCarthy camp.

Laniel Facing Crisis Today In Confidence Vote

PARIS, June 11 (AP)—The fate of Premier Joseph Laniel's government which has been in power just two weeks short of a year, will be decided tomorrow by a vote of confidence in the French National Assembly.

Today there seemed little hope the Cabinet could survive. A few optimists, however, spotted rays of cheer.

The debate will start tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. (3:30 a.m. EST). Laniel probably will be the first speaker, to plead for support. Foreign Minister Georges Bidault also may be called upon. The vote may not come before late tomorrow night, because party meetings, public explanations of votes and lobby conversations always play a big part in the proceedings before a vote of confidence.

Laniel's prestige and authority have been on the downgrade for months. The Assembly was threatening to throw him out last winter, but held off first for the Bermuda "Big Three" conference, then for the French presidential election, the Berlin conference and the Geneva conference. Each upcoming event was accepted as a reason for continuing the government in office a little longer.

The government has survived two votes of confidence in the past five weeks, but it got only a two-vote majority the last time—on May 13. Since then he seems to have lost much support.

But each deputy knows that any crisis might be extremely difficult to resolve. This fear of the future is one of the strongest cards in Laniel's hand.

ANKARA, Turkey, June 11 (AP)—Turkey's National Assembly unanimously ratified the Turkish-Pakistani mutual assistance pact today. Pakistan's Prime Minister Mohammed Ali attended the session.

Russian Chess Team Arrives

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—A Russian chess team arrived here today and its first move baffled welcomers.

Hotel reservations had been made in New York City for the 14 Russians as they had requested.

But, from Idlewild airport, the Russians set out instead for a Soviet estate in Glen Cove on Long Island. The estate is used by the Russian delegation to the United Nations.

The Russians are scheduled to meet an American team in a series of matches from June 16 through June 23. The visitors have some of the world's best chess players and are expected to win.

Harold M. Phillips, president of the American Chess Federation, greeted the Soviet team at the airport.

Five Barbershop Quartets Reach Gold Medal Finals

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Five of the fanciest singing quartets you've ever heard won their way today into the medalist championships of SPEBSQSA—The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartette Singing in America, Inc.

The classy five, who will compete for the championship tomorrow night, are the Lytle Brothers of Sharon, Pa.; Toronto Rhythmaires of Yorktown, Ontario; The Statesmen of Sacramento, Calif.; the Four Hearsemen of Amarillo, Tex., and the Orphans of Wichita, Kan.

They won out over 35 other barbershoppers in the elimination contests which filled Constitution Hall with the kind of harmony rarely heard in Washington these days.

The Toronto foursome of Ed Morgan, Norman Sawyer, Gareth Evans and Duncan Thomson drew the loudest applause with their intricate close harmonizing in "Last Night Was the End of the World," and "Way Down in Georgia." Most of the spectators promptly installed them as the favorites to win the gold medal.

The Four Hearsemen, Wendell Heiny, Deane Watson, Dwight Elliott and Dick Gifford, attracted gales of laughter by marching solemnly onto the stage, hands folded undertaker style with typical morticians' garb. Then they broke into a parody, "I Got No Time," and wound up with "When You're a Long, Long Way From Home."

The Orphans—Bud Bigham, Bob Groom, Pete Tyree and Jay Bond—produced a sparkling medley of Stephen Foster songs and "Wait Til the Sun Shines, Nellie", to sing their way into the medallist round.

The Statesmen—Elmer Schulz, Don Machado, Harry Duvall and Jack Gilstrap—won applause for two old favorites "Hello, My Baby," and "They're Breaking Up That Old Gang of Mine."

Dick, Bob, Paul and Matt Lytle showed to advantage in close harmony on "I'm Chock Full of Love For You" and "For Me and My Gal."

Ike May Not Run If Congress Lost

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Sherman Adams, chief assistant to President Eisenhower, said today he could think of "certain conditions" that might make Eisenhower want to retire after one term—and one would be the loss of Congress to the Democrats this November.

Adams did not enumerate any other "conditions" in an informal speech to the Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee. But he asserted that a Democratic Congress midway of the Eisenhower administration could bring a "journey to the left again" and many of the "middle way" Eisenhower proposals would be lost.

Adams said it was extremely urgent that a strong Republican Congress be elected this fall. He spoke at the end of a long day's session which heard John Roosevelt, youngest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, join Republican leaders in urging the same kind of Congress Adams favored.

Adams scoffed at criticisms of the President on grounds that he lacked "leadership, decisiveness and positiveness." He said the administration had learned some lessons from which it was going to profit. He added that the citizens group could have detected "some determination" in the President's speech to it last night when he called for political unity.

200 Companies Reaped Unjust FHA "Profits"

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Federal Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole today named 200 corporations as having reaped nearly 40 million dollars in "windfall" profits on 70 apartment projects. He announced the list is being sent to the justice department.

An investigation of Federal Housing Administration abuses shows beyond question, FHA announced, that some of the apartment promoters were "aided and guided by former top FHA officials in the windfall practices."

The Justice Department was asked to take "such civil or criminal proceedings" as might be indicated by the circumstances of each case.

Cole made public the list developed by his deputy, William F. McKenna, who is in charge of the investigation FHA began last April 12.

Sens. Byrd (D-Va) and Capehart (R-Ind), among others, have charged that serious abuses occurred under FHA's "Section 608" program to provide post-war housing for middle income families.

Investigation has shown that many of the promoters obtained FHA-insured loans much larger than the actual cost of the apartment projects, and distributed the difference to stockholders as windfalls. Many subsequently closed out the corporations.

The list released today covers projects in 18 states and the District of Columbia. The corporations put $4,141,390 of their own money into the developments and obtained FHA-insured mortgage loans totalling $277,593,500.

But the total cost of the projects was shown as $239,374,770, indicating that the sponsors enjoyed a total windfall of $39,539,833.

The difference between these figures amounts to less than the sum the FHA reported as total windfall, but it explained that there were various additional techniques employed which increased the windfall returns.

The bulk of the windfall money—$31,755,000 — was distributed to stockholders of the corporations, FHA said.

Cohn Is Excused From Guard Duty

ALBANY, N.Y., June 11 (AP)—The New York National Guard today excused Roy M. Cohn, a key figure in the McCarthy-Army dispute, from orders to report tomorrow for two weeks of active duty.

Brig. Gen. William H. Kelly, adjutant general of the New York Guard granted an indefinite postponement, at the request of the Senate subcommittee investigating the dispute between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and the Army.

The 27-year-old Cohn, a first lieutenant in the National Guard, is needed at the hearing, the subcommittee and the Army agreed.

Signs For Season

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Margaret Truman has signed a contract with the National Broadcasting Co. for her fourth season of radio and television guest appearances, the network announced today.

Kidnaper Identified

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 11 (AP) — Mrs. Evelyn Ann Smith tonight "positively identified" a suspect from a police lineup as the man who abducted her from a busy downtown street and held her 24 hours until $75,000 ransom was paid.

The man had staggered into a farmhouse near the place Mrs. Smith was released. Officers identified him as Daniel Marsin, 41, an unemployed welder.

Police Chief Charles Thomas said the 23-year-old mother identified Marsin as the man who kidnaped her Tuesday afternoon, drove her into the Superstition Mountains and held her at gunpoint.

Marsin was naked to the waist when sheriff's deputies arrested him at the farm house for investigation. He had but a few pennies in his pockets. He pleaded for water, saying he had become lost while hunting for the fabled Lost Dutchman gold mine.

Wailes Resigns Security Post

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The White House today announced Edward T. Wailes has resigned as assistant secretary of state for personnel and administration and is returning to his Foreign Service career with the department.

President Eisenhower nominated Isaac W. Carpenter Jr., Omaha manufacturer, to succeed Wailes, who relinquished his title amid reports of friction with Scott McLeod, chief security officer for the department.

Asked why he resigned, Wailes would say only that he had been on the job here for three years and,

"That's a normal tour of duty in the department for a Foreign Service officer."

"I think it's about time that I go back out to the field," he added.

Wailes, a New Yorker, joined the Foreign Service in 1929 and became an assistant secretary in May, 1953, in charge of administration.

Geneva Peace Talks Bog Down On All Fronts

GENEVA, June 11 (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who yesterday declared the Indochina peace talks were foundering, performed the same task today for the long-deadlocked negotiations on unifying Korea.

Eden said he was ready to explore every means of reaching agreement on Korea, but that "there must be some sign that agreement is possible."

"If no way can be found of resolving the differences of these two main issues," Eden said, "then we shall have to admit that this conference has not been able to complete its task."

In this event, Eden added, the proper procedure would be to report back to the United Nations on the deadlocked negotiations. The search for a political settlement in Korea then could be resumed "whenever the right moment came."

Eden was expected to see Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov tomorrow for a discussion on the low state the conference has reached. No sessions on either Korea or Indochina have been scheduled for the weekend.

Red China's Chou En-lai did not share Eden's views on the state of the Korean negotiations. He said, "We have already obtained concurrence or have come close to concurrence on not a few viewpoints."

"There is no reason whatsoever why we should stop going on," he said.

Molotov did not speak today, but the official Russian spokesman, when asked about Eden's statement, said:

"One gets the impression certain delegations have not manifested any desire to reach an agreement, but were more concerned with raising other considerations which can only prove obstacles to reaching an accord at the conference."

Chou and North Korean Foreign Minister Nam Il urged the conference to continue discussions on the five-fundamental principles relating to the peaceful settlement of the Korean problem" presented by Molotov last Saturday. These related to free elections, their preparation, the withdrawal of foreign troops, the international supervision of elections and guarantees of peace in Korea.

Flying LST Lands On Water To Unload Guns And Tanks

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 11 (AP)—An airplane that can land on water and unload guns, trucks, supplies or an assault company of Marines directly onto an enemy beach was announced here today.

Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp. said the world's first "Flying LST," the R3Y-2, is in production at its San Diego plant.

Convair announced at an aviation writers meeting here that the new airplane, with a top speed of more than 400 miles an hour, is a bow-loading version of the Navy's water-based turboprop transport, the four-engine R3Y-1 Tradewind. In a turboprop airplane jet engines are used to drive propellors.

Both the R3Y-1 and R3Y-2 are to go into service late this year with the Navy's Pacific Fleet logistic air wings at Alameda, Calif.

They have a range of more than 2,000 miles and a faster rate of climb than many World War II fighter planes.

For an assault operation the R3Y-2 lands in offshore waters and taxis to the beach. When the hull touches the sand, the bow opens upward, a ramp is dropped, and the loaded vehicles or troops are sent directly onto the beach.

To leave the beach, the pilot reverses his propellers and backs away. The 80-ton plane will lift into the air with a 30-second taxi run across the water.

The plane can carry 24 tons of cargo. Its main deck is 88 feet long and more than 9 eet wide.

It can carry four 155-mm howitzers, three 2½ ton trucks, six jeeps or two half-tracks. It can also be fitted with 103 demountable rearward facing seats or can carry 92 litters and 12 attendants as a hospital plane.

Weather Forecast

This is about one billion less than President Eisenhower requested, but would supplement an estimated 48 billion dollars still available from previous years' appropriations.

The Senate committee added $177,334,000 in new cash to funds voted by the House, of which $163,550,000 would go to the Air Force and $13,284,000 to the Navy. This would raise the Air Force figure in the bill to $10,982,860,000 and the Navy's to $9,719,122,500. The Army's allotment of $7,619,066,986 was left unchanged.

Add Half Million To Fund

Ferguson, who will manage the bill on the Senate floor, said the committee added half a million dollars to Secretary of Defense Wilson's office fund of 12½ million to "speed up its clearance of military and civilian security cases."

Asserting the committee wants "prudent but timely action," Ferguson told reporters Wilson's department is being asked to "coordinate all security investigations under a single civilian official if possible."

This official, he said, should stress two points:

"First, that the due process of law and rights of all individuals be respected;

"Second, that the security of the United States government be protected."

Posse Hunts Kidnaper

Stormy Row Helps Enliven 32nd Session

Cohn Also Battles With Sen. Jackson And Attorney Kennedy

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy crossed swords with Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch for the second time in three days at the McCarthy-Army hearings today, and the proceedings were further enlivened by a serio-comic dispute about the "Schine plan" to sell democracy through the world.

Welch, who accused the Wisconsin senator of reckless cruelty two days ago, pleaded with him this afternoon to give a clean bill of health to Pvt. G. David Schine's former commanding officer.

"Aren't you capable of a single affirmative kindness?" Welch asked McCarthy.

"Vaudeville act!" McCarthy hit back.

He said he's convinced that Schine's former commander, Col. Earl Ringler, is a good officer—that he has nothing against him except that the colonel once was reported to have called a McCarthy investigation a "witch hunt".

New Personal Row

The 32nd day of the stormy proceedings also brought on a new personal row between Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) and Roy M. Cohn, regular chief counsel of the McCarthy Investigations subcommittee.

It stemmed from a statement by McCarthy during the hearing that Schine, when he was a subcommittee consultant, saved the taxpayers 10 million dollars by forcing cancellation of an overseas broadcasting station in Jackson's home state of Washington.

Jackson disputed this, contending Schine withheld technical information from the subcommittee. Cohn challenged Jackson and announced he would answer the senator's "erroneous statements" Monday.

Cohn then tangled with Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Democrats on the Investigations subcommittee, and Kennedy told reporters Cohn said "we are going to get" Jackson on Monday.

Cohn said he told Kennedy that he thought Kennedy "had a personal hatred" and asked him if he thought somebody with such a hatred "should sit here and take part in the proceedings by advising Democratic senators."

Democratic Senators Symington (Mo) and Jackson set out to get the McCarthy camp's goat with needling questions about Schine—ranging from the alleged loneliness of his girl friends when the Army drafted him, to the value of a plan Schine once submitted to the State Department for a worldwide "deminform"—an alliance of free peoples in the battle "for men's souls."

Jackson lampooned the five-page plan as a hodge-podge of not very practical suggestions.

It was Symington who brought up the subject of Schine's girl friends.

He quizzed McCarthy at some length about the senator's telling Army Secretary Stevens—in a monitored telephone call — that Schine might be given some weekend passes from Ft. Dix, N. J., lest his girl friends get lonesome.

McCarthy said he obviously was joking when he made that remark.

Asked Name Check

Welch, reserving the bulk of his cross - examination for Monday, harked back to testimony that McCarthy ordered a name-check on Col. Ringler, who was Schine's regimental commander at Ft. Dix.

He developed that a "name check" is a rundown by the FBI or such other bodies as the House Committee on un-American activities to see if they have any information against an individual in their files. McCarthy said nothing derogatory to Ringler was discovered.

Jackson first began his needling of the McCarthy side by asking why Cohn and Schine had the subcommittee pay for 11 telephone calls from New York to Washington in connection with Schine's application for an Army commission.

McCarthy said he had no idea. Probably, he said, they repaid the subcommittee at the end of the month. In any case, he said, he didn't begrudge a few phone calls to Schine, who donated his services to the subcommittee and paid most if not all of his own expenses.

During the morning session McCarthy said Secretary of the Army Stevens made a "gross mistake" and "highly improper" decision when he approved the filing of charges of improper pressure against the McCarthy camp.

McCarthy said Stevens apparently acted at the "urging" of Clark Clifford, onetime adviser to President Truman. This touched off a new controversy over whether Clifford and Sen. Symington (D-Mo) should give sworn testimony in the McCarthy-Army hearings.

Laniel Facing Crisis Today In Confidence Vote

PARIS, June 11 (AP)—The fate of Premier Joseph Laniel's government which has been in power just two weeks short of a year, will be decided tomorrow by a vote of confidence in the French National Assembly.

Today there seemed little hope the Cabinet could survive. A few optimists, however, spotted rays of cheer.

The debate will start tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. (3:30 a.m. EST). Laniel probably will be the first speaker, to plead for support. Foreign Minister Georges Bidault also may be called upon. The vote may not come before late tomorrow night, because party meetings, public explanations of votes and lobby conversations always play a big part in the proceedings before a vote of confidence.

Laniel's prestige and authority have been on the downgrade for months. The Assembly was threatening to throw him out last winter, but held off first for the Bermuda "Big Three" conference, then for the French presidential election, the Berlin conference and the Geneva conference. Each upcoming event was accepted as a reason for continuing the government in office a little longer.

The government has survived two votes of confidence in the past five weeks, but it got only a two-vote majority the last time—on May 13. Since then he seems to have lost much support.

But each deputy knows that any crisis might be extremely difficult to resolve. This fear of the future is one of the strongest cards in Laniel's hand.

Ratify Aid Pact

Russian Chess Team Arrives

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—A Russian chess team arrived here today and its first move baffled welcomers.

Hotel reservations had been made in New York City for the 14 Russians as they had requested.

But, from Idlewild airport, the Russians set out instead for a Soviet estate in Glen Cove on Long Island. The estate is used by the Russian delegation to the United Nations.

The Russians are scheduled to meet an American team in a series of matches from June 16 through June 23. The visitors have some of the world's best chess players and are expected to win.

Harold M. Phillips, president of the American Chess Federation, greeted the Soviet team at the airport.

Five Barbershop Quartets Reach Gold Medal Finals

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Five of the fanciest singing quartets you've ever heard won their way today into the medalist championships of SPEBSQSA—The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartette Singing in America, Inc.

The classy five, who will compete for the championship tomorrow night, are the Lytle Brothers of Sharon, Pa.; Toronto Rhythmaires of Yorktown, Ontario; The Statesmen of Sacramento, Calif.; the Four Hearsemen of Amarillo, Tex., and the Orphans of Wichita, Kan.

They won out over 35 other barbershoppers in the elimination contests which filled Constitution Hall with the kind of harmony rarely heard in Washington these days.

The Toronto foursome of Ed Morgan, Norman Sawyer, Gareth Evans and Duncan Thomson drew the loudest applause with their intricate close harmonizing in "Last Night Was the End of the World," and "Way Down in Georgia." Most of the spectators promptly installed them as the favorites to win the gold medal.

The Four Hearsemen, Wendell Heiny, Deane Watson, Dwight Elliott and Dick Gifford, attracted gales of laughter by marching solemnly onto the stage, hands folded undertaker style with typical morticians' garb. Then they broke into a parody, "I Got No Time," and wound up with "When You're a Long, Long Way From Home."

The Orphans—Bud Bigham, Bob Groom, Pete Tyree and Jay Bond—produced a sparkling medley of Stephen Foster songs and "Wait Til the Sun Shines, Nellie", to sing their way into the medallist round.

The Statesmen—Elmer Schulz, Don Machado, Harry Duvall and Jack Gilstrap—won applause for two old favorites "Hello, My Baby," and "They're Breaking Up That Old Gang of Mine."

Dick, Bob, Paul and Matt Lytle showed to advantage in close harmony on "I'm Chock Full of Love For You" and "For Me and My Gal."

Ike May Not Run If Congress Lost

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Sherman Adams, chief assistant to President Eisenhower, said today he could think of "certain conditions" that might make Eisenhower want to retire after one term—and one would be the loss of Congress to the Democrats this November.

Adams did not enumerate any other "conditions" in an informal speech to the Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee. But he asserted that a Democratic Congress midway of the Eisenhower administration could bring a "journey to the left again" and many of the "middle way" Eisenhower proposals would be lost.

Adams said it was extremely urgent that a strong Republican Congress be elected this fall. He spoke at the end of a long day's session which heard John Roosevelt, youngest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, join Republican leaders in urging the same kind of Congress Adams favored.

Adams scoffed at criticisms of the President on grounds that he lacked "leadership, decisiveness and positiveness." He said the administration had learned some lessons from which it was going to profit. He added that the citizens group could have detected "some determination" in the President's speech to it last night when he called for political unity.

200 Companies Reaped Unjust FHA "Profits"

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Federal Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole today named 200 corporations as having reaped nearly 40 million dollars in "windfall" profits on 70 apartment projects. He announced the list is being sent to the justice department.

An investigation of Federal Housing Administration abuses shows beyond question, FHA announced, that some of the apartment promoters were "aided and guided by former top FHA officials in the windfall practices."

The Justice Department was asked to take "such civil or criminal proceedings" as might be indicated by the circumstances of each case.

Cole made public the list developed by his deputy, William F. McKenna, who is in charge of the investigation FHA began last April 12.

Sens. Byrd (D-Va) and Capehart (R-Ind), among others, have charged that serious abuses occurred under FHA's "Section 608" program to provide post-war housing for middle income families.

Investigation has shown that many of the promoters obtained FHA-insured loans much larger than the actual cost of the apartment projects, and distributed the difference to stockholders as windfalls. Many subsequently closed out the corporations.

The list released today covers projects in 18 states and the District of Columbia. The corporations put $4,141,390 of their own money into the developments and obtained FHA-insured mortgage loans totalling $277,593,500.

But the total cost of the projects was shown as $239,374,770, indicating that the sponsors enjoyed a total windfall of $39,539,833.

The difference between these figures amounts to less than the sum the FHA reported as total windfall, but it explained that there were various additional techniques employed which increased the windfall returns.

The bulk of the windfall money—$31,755,000 — was distributed to stockholders of the corporations, FHA said.

Cohn Is Excused From Guard Duty

ALBANY, N.Y., June 11 (AP)—The New York National Guard today excused Roy M. Cohn, a key figure in the McCarthy-Army dispute, from orders to report tomorrow for two weeks of active duty.

Brig. Gen. William H. Kelly, adjutant general of the New York Guard granted an indefinite postponement, at the request of the Senate subcommittee investigating the dispute between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and the Army.

The 27-year-old Cohn, a first lieutenant in the National Guard, is needed at the hearing, the subcommittee and the Army agreed.

Signs For Season

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Margaret Truman has signed a contract with the National Broadcasting Co. for her fourth season of radio and television guest appearances, the network announced today.

Kidnaper Identified

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 11 (AP) — Mrs. Evelyn Ann Smith tonight "positively identified" a suspect from a police lineup as the man who abducted her from a busy downtown street and held her 24 hours until $75,000 ransom was paid.

The man had staggered into a farmhouse near the place Mrs. Smith was released. Officers identified him as Daniel Marsin, 41, an unemployed welder.

Police Chief Charles Thomas said the 23-year-old mother identified Marsin as the man who kidnaped her Tuesday afternoon, drove her into the Superstition Mountains and held her at gunpoint.

Marsin was naked to the waist when sheriff's deputies arrested him at the farm house for investigation. He had but a few pennies in his pockets. He pleaded for water, saying he had become lost while hunting for the fabled Lost Dutchman gold mine.

Wailes Resigns Security Post

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The White House today announced Edward T. Wailes has resigned as assistant secretary of state for personnel and administration and is returning to his Foreign Service career with the department.

President Eisenhower nominated Isaac W. Carpenter Jr., Omaha manufacturer, to succeed Wailes, who relinquished his title amid reports of friction with Scott McLeod, chief security officer for the department.

Asked why he resigned, Wailes would say only that he had been on the job here for three years and,

"That's a normal tour of duty in the department for a Foreign Service officer."

"I think it's about time that I go back out to the field," he added.

Wailes, a New Yorker, joined the Foreign Service in 1929 and became an assistant secretary in May, 1953, in charge of administration.

Geneva Peace Talks Bog Down On All Fronts

GENEVA, June 11 (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who yesterday declared the Indochina peace talks were foundering, performed the same task today for the long-deadlocked negotiations on unifying Korea.

Eden said he was ready to explore every means of reaching agreement on Korea, but that "there must be some sign that agreement is possible."

"If no way can be found of resolving the differences of these two main issues," Eden said, "then we shall have to admit that this conference has not been able to complete its task."

In this event, Eden added, the proper procedure would be to report back to the United Nations on the deadlocked negotiations. The search for a political settlement in Korea then could be resumed "whenever the right moment came."

Eden was expected to see Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov tomorrow for a discussion on the low state the conference has reached. No sessions on either Korea or Indochina have been scheduled for the weekend.

Red China's Chou En-lai did not share Eden's views on the state of the Korean negotiations. He said, "We have already obtained concurrence or have come close to concurrence on not a few viewpoints."

"There is no reason whatsoever why we should stop going on," he said.

Molotov did not speak today, but the official Russian spokesman, when asked about Eden's statement, said:

"One gets the impression certain delegations have not manifested any desire to reach an agreement, but were more concerned with raising other considerations which can only prove obstacles to reaching an accord at the conference."

Chou and North Korean Foreign Minister Nam Il urged the conference to continue discussions on the five-fundamental principles relating to the peaceful settlement of the Korean problem" presented by Molotov last Saturday. These related to free elections, their preparation, the withdrawal of foreign troops, the international supervision of elections and guarantees of peace in Korea.

Flying LST Lands On Water To Unload Guns And Tanks

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 11 (AP)—An airplane that can land on water and unload guns, trucks, supplies or an assault company of Marines directly onto an enemy beach was announced here today.

Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp. said the world's first "Flying LST," the R3Y-2, is in production at its San Diego plant.

Convair announced at an aviation writers meeting here that the new airplane, with a top speed of more than 400 miles an hour, is a bow-loading version of the Navy's water-based turboprop transport, the four-engine R3Y-1 Tradewind. In a turboprop airplane jet engines are used to drive propellors.

Both the R3Y-1 and R3Y-2 are to go into service late this year with the Navy's Pacific Fleet logistic air wings at Alameda, Calif.

They have a range of more than 2,000 miles and a faster rate of climb than many World War II fighter planes.

For an assault operation the R3Y-2 lands in offshore waters and taxis to the beach. When the hull touches the sand, the bow opens upward, a ramp is dropped, and the loaded vehicles or troops are sent directly onto the beach.

To leave the beach, the pilot reverses his propellers and backs away. The 80-ton plane will lift into the air with a 30-second taxi run across the water.

The plane can carry 24 tons of cargo. Its main deck is 88 feet long and more than 9 eet wide.

It can carry four 155-mm howitzers, three 2½ ton trucks, six jeeps or two half-tracks. It can also be fitted with 103 demountable rearward facing seats or can carry 92 litters and 12 attendants as a hospital plane.

Valise Is Found As Police Hunt Woman's Kidnaper

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 11 (AP)—A dark, squat man carrying a $75,000 kidnaping pay-off was believed to have retreated deep into the Superstition Mountains today or to have slipped through a tightening police encirclement.

The ransom was paid for the release of Mrs. Evelyn Smith, 23, wife of a wealthy Phoenix pipe and steel company executive, and daughter of Carl Weissman, millionaire structural steel dealer of Great Falls, Mont.

A small army of officers closing in on the upper reaches of the fortress-like outcroppings reported they had found no new clues to the fugitive's whereabouts since shortly after dawn.

At that time fresh tracks were discovered. A short time later the partially burned valise in which the money was turned over yesterday was found.

Mrs. Smith was held captive for 29 hours after being seized in front of a Phoenix beauty parlor Wednesday afternoon.

Her abductor is described as having dark hair, muscular arms, close-set eyes and is about 35 to 40 years of age. Mrs. Smith said he told her he was from Chicago.

The Pinal County Sheriff's office at Florence said mounted men and bloodhounds trying to follow the tracks had not reported any development.

An estimated 30 police cars are stationed throughout the area. Three sheriff's planes are in the air and ground parties are combing the terrain.

Police were checking a report by Mrs. Smith that she thought she overheard the kidnaper talking with an accomplice who wanted to kill her, but they have found nothing so far to indicate more than one man was involved.

Mrs. Smith was locked in the trunk of her car at the time.

She was later let out of the trunk and held all night in the mountains until her husband came with the money. She was unharmed.

Synod Selects Committee To Name President

FREDERICK, June 11 (AP)—The Potomac Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church today set up a special committee to nominate candidates for the new full-time presidency of the synod and set ground rules for the job.

This had the effect of putting off for a year the effectiveness of an action 150 delegates to the synod's annual session took Thursday when they approved a full-time presidency.

The synod is made up of about 100 churches in Maryland, Virginia, the District of Columbia and nearby West Virginia. Its annual meeting closed at Hood College today.

The Rev. Dr. Arthur W. Newell of Richmond, Arthur Scott of Westminster, Md., the Rev. Pal L. Althouse of Frederick and Robert Bosserman and the Rev. Roy Snyder of Baltimore were named to the special committee.

They were charged with presenting nominations and recommendations for operation of the office at the 1955 annual conference next June.

The committee was asked to study where the new president should be based, how the office should be supported financially, and other practical questions.

Dr. Frederick D. Eyster of Hagerstown will continue in the meantime as synod president, a job he has in addition to his regular pastorate.

The Synod adjourned after approving a report of its Committee on Christian Social Action calling upon churches to examine their own practices with respect to segregation of the races.

"We applaud the Supreme Court Decision of May 17 banning segregation in the public schools," said their report. "We affirm out belief that discrimination on the basis of race or color is contrary to the spirit of our Christian faith."

New York Transit Strike Is Cancelled

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner today announced that a transit strike scheduled for next Monday had been cancelled.

The mayor said that both sides—the City Transit Authority and the CIO Transport Workers Union—"have agreed to meet at the bargaining table in a sincere effort to resolve their differences."

The union had scheduled a strike on all city subway, bus and elevated lines for one minute after midnight Sunday. A tie-up would have stranded millions of riders.

Grammer Penciled 14 Letters Before Going To Death

BALTIMORE, June 11 (AP) — George Edward Grammer, hanged early today for the murder of his wife, left behind 14 penciled letters to relatives and prison officials.

In them he said farewell and offered his thanks.

The burly, 37-year-old former New York office manager went to his death without a word. The hangman's noose and black hood were slipped over his head in less than a minute after he was brought onto the scaffold above the 25 witnesses present.

At 12:06 a.m. (EDT) the trap was sprung and Grammer plunged to his death. One slipper came off in the plunge and remained there on the floor after he was pronounced dead 13 minutes later and wheeled from the chamber.

Some of Grammer's last letters, said Warden Vernon L. Pepersack, were to his slain wife's family. Others were to the warden and chaplains.

Grammer faced death with no outward signs of emotion.

Two hours before the execution, Grammer was asked whether he had "any last request." He smiled slightly and said "no," the warden reported. He shook hands with his guards before going to his death.

Rebel Forces Ready Attack

SAIGON, Indochina, June 11 (AP)—Several Vietminh battalions which marched more than 220 miles to help destroy Dien Bien Phu last month were back today at their old posts on the Thanh Hoa Plain, part of a steel arc the rebel high command is welding around the Red River Delta.

French military sources told of the arrival of these seasoned Red troops at Thanh Hoa, 80 miles south of Hanoi. They were described as elements drawn from a variety of regiments to reinforce Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap's assault on the French fortress which fell May 7.

The return journey southeastward over jungle roads under harassing air attacks took about a month. Other rebel veterans of the siege in the meantime took up positions in strength opposite French lines northwest and southwest of Hanoi, the French war capital. The old fight goes on between Vietminh guerrillas and garrison forces within the rice rich delta. A "human sea" assault is expected eventually. But French sources said it is premature to conclude the battle for the delta is under way.

Gen. Paul Ely, the new French commander in chief, flew to three strategic zones of the delta today to check defense preparations. Covering nearly 300 miles, he conferred lengthily with field commanders west, southwest and south of Hanoi.

Permitted To Enter

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill permitting Mrs. Romola Nijinsky, widow of the famed Russian dancer Vaslav Nijinsky, to enter the United States as a permanent resident. She is Hungarian.

University Sets Up Study Board On Segregation

BALTIMORE, June 11 (AP) — The University of Maryland Board of Regents today set up a special four-man committee to study the effect of the university of the Supreme Court rulings against segregation.

The board discussed the problem in executive session for some time before making the public announcement it had set up the committee.

The members are Dr. Louis L. Kaplan, chairman, C. Ewing Tuttle, B. Herbert Brown, and Mrs. John L. Whitehurst.

The only announcement about the discussion was that the regents had noted Baltiore's decision to end segregation in its city schools in the fall while Maryland's attorney general has ruled that outside the city at least it would be illegal to end segregation until the Supreme Court has entered final decrees and mandates implementing its decision. Such action is not expected until after the court studies briefs which are to be submitted in October.

The university already has opened its graduate divisions to Negroes, as the result of a series of legal actions over a period of several years. The under-graduate schools at College Park have not been opened to Negroes.

The regents today set Oct. 29 for ceremonies installing Dr. Wilson H. Elkins as the new president of the university.

Dr. Elkins, now president of Texas Western College at El Paso, was on hand to confer with the board and part of its discussion was about providing him with a home.

Dr. T. B. Symons, acting president of the University, reported a $60,000 house has been located within a mile and a half of the campus at College Heights Estates.

Dr. Symons said it could be rented and a special committee was empowered to provide a temporary home for the new president and make recommendations later this summer for a permanent residence.

Student Is Held In Bomb Scare

BALTIMORE, June 11 (AP)—A Johns Hopkins University junior from Denver ditched 18 pounds of high explosives at the university's recreation hall today, police said, spreading a bomb scare through the campus.

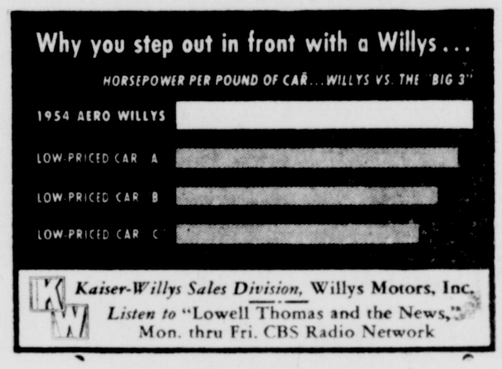

He was booked as Hugh Montague, 20, and charged with illegal possession of military explosives.

Police Capt. Clarence E. German said Montague apparently had kept the explosives hidden at his rooming house for two years. Montague ditched them at Levering Hall, German said, apparently because he didn't want to take them back to Denver now that school is out and didn't know how else to get rid of them.

Open letter to John Long:

In regards your paid advertisements in the local press during your campaign, asking Cumberland's law-abiding citizens to vote for you on June 15.

Your ad of June 2 in the Messenger is a masterpiece of double-talk, Mister Long! It very cleverly attempts to picture you as the honest politician to whom lawless forces are opposed; and you slyly attempt this transparent means in an effort to enlist on your side the sympathy of the voters.

You state that you have operated your office in conformity with the oath of your office:

What did you do concerning the charges contained in the late Mr. Gallen's letters concerning the person who was then affiliated with a horse betting establishment on Baltimore Street during your term of office? Did you actually oppose gambling, Mister Long; or simply opposed certain gambling establishments? And, isn't it true that the Federal gambling laws were really responsible for the curtailment of the local gambling situation, while you attempt to claim credit for it?

You state that you will continue to support any movement for the betterment of Cumberland. Why, then, did you not support the bond issue for the purpose of opening Fifth St.? You and Mrs. Roeder voted in opposition to Eves, Keegan and Edwards on this matter. Is it possible that you both hesitate to see our section of the city prosper?

Did you take sides in the 6 month old strike at National Jet, Mister Long? On the afternoons when a dozen policemen were sent to that plant, is it a fact that some had to be removed from street crossings where our school children had to cross? It is also true that you were informed that your actions in this strike were prolonging the strike and damaging the chances for our new industry locating here. When you ignored this warning, do you not feel that you gave credence to the belief that you were not too deeply interested in the future of Cumberland? Where is your main interest, Mister Long? Luke, maybe?

If you were sincere in supporting any movement for the betterment of our citizenry, why were you absent from every citizens meeting that was held in the city hall for the purpose of protesting any further gas rate increases? You must surely know that thousands of our citizens signed petitions to prevent any further rate increases. Did you sign one, Mister Long? Or are you totally disinterested in the amount of the gas bill that we must pay, each month?

Mister Long, are you SURE that it is the lawless elements that are "leaving no stone unturned" to defeat you? The writer would rather adhere to the belief that it is the law-abiding citizens that will call you to reckoning on June 15th.

In closing, Mister Long, let me point out that one of your crafty advertisements stated, "The handwriting is on the wall." Let us finish this thought: "YOU HAVE BEEN WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE, AND FOUND WANTING."

Air Force To Aid French Evacuation

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The U.S. Air Force announced tonight that it will evacuate about 1,000 wounded French troops from non-combat areas in Indochina.

They will be taken to France via the United States.

The decision to give a hand to the hard-pressed French was made at the request of the French government, the Air Force said, and the air movement will begin late next week.

Synod Selects Committee To Name President

FREDERICK, June 11 (AP)—The Potomac Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church today set up a special committee to nominate candidates for the new full-time presidency of the synod and set ground rules for the job.

This had the effect of putting off for a year the effectiveness of an action 150 delegates to the synod's annual session took Thursday when they approved a full-time presidency.

The synod is made up of about 100 churches in Maryland, Virginia, the District of Columbia and nearby West Virginia. Its annual meeting closed at Hood College today.

The Rev. Dr. Arthur W. Newell of Richmond, Arthur Scott of Westminster, Md., the Rev. Pal L. Althouse of Frederick and Robert Bosserman and the Rev. Roy Snyder of Baltimore were named to the special committee.

They were charged with presenting nominations and recommendations for operation of the office at the 1955 annual conference next June.

The committee was asked to study where the new president should be based, how the office should be supported financially, and other practical questions.

Dr. Frederick D. Eyster of Hagerstown will continue in the meantime as synod president, a job he has in addition to his regular pastorate.

The Synod adjourned after approving a report of its Committee on Christian Social Action calling upon churches to examine their own practices with respect to segregation of the races.

"We applaud the Supreme Court Decision of May 17 banning segregation in the public schools," said their report. "We affirm out belief that discrimination on the basis of race or color is contrary to the spirit of our Christian faith."

New York Transit Strike Is Cancelled

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner today announced that a transit strike scheduled for next Monday had been cancelled.

The mayor said that both sides—the City Transit Authority and the CIO Transport Workers Union—"have agreed to meet at the bargaining table in a sincere effort to resolve their differences."

The union had scheduled a strike on all city subway, bus and elevated lines for one minute after midnight Sunday. A tie-up would have stranded millions of riders.

Grammer Penciled 14 Letters Before Going To Death

BALTIMORE, June 11 (AP)—George Edward Grammer, hanged early today for the murder of his wife, left behind 14 penciled letters to relatives and prison officials.

In them he said farewell and offered his thanks.

The burly, 37-year-old former New York office manager went to his death without a word. The hangman's noose and black hood were slipped over his head in less than a minute after he was brought onto the scaffold above the 25 witnesses present.

At 12:06 a.m. (EDT) the trap was sprung and Grammer plunged to his death. One slipper came off in the plunge and remained there on the floor after he was pronounced dead 13 minutes later and wheeled from the chamber.

Some of Grammer's last letters, said Warden Vernon L. Pepersack, were to his slain wife's family. Others were to the warden and chaplains.

Grammer faced death with no outward signs of emotion.

Two hours before the execution, Grammer was asked whether he had "any last request." He smiled slightly and said "no," the warden reported. He shook hands with his guards before going to his death.

Rebel Forces Ready Attack

SAIGON, Indochina, June 11 (AP)—Several Vietminh battalions which marched more than 220 miles to help destroy Dien Bien Phu last month were back today at their old posts on the Thanh Hoa Plain, part of a steel arc the rebel high command is welding around the Red River Delta.

French military sources told of the arrival of these seasoned Red troops at Thanh Hoa, 80 miles south of Hanoi. They were described as elements drawn from a variety of regiments to reinforce Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap's assault on the French fortress which fell May 7.

The return journey southeastward over jungle roads under harassing air attacks took about a month. Other rebel veterans of the siege in the meantime took up positions in strength opposite French lines northwest and southwest of Hanoi, the French war capital. The old fight goes on between Vietminh guerrillas and garrison forces within the rice rich delta. A "human sea" assault is expected eventually. But French sources said it is premature to conclude the battle for the delta is under way.

Gen. Paul Ely, the new French commander in chief, flew to three strategic zones of the delta today to check defense preparations. Covering nearly 300 miles, he conferred lengthily with field commanders west, southwest and south of Hanoi.

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill permitting Mrs. Romola Nijinsky, widow of the famed Russian dancer Vaslav Nijinsky, to enter the United States as a permanent resident. She is Hungarian.

University Sets Up Study Board On Segregation

BALTIMORE, June 11 (AP) — The University of Maryland Board of Regents today set up a special four-man committee to study the effect of the university of the Supreme Court rulings against segregation.

The board discussed the problem in executive session for some time before making the public announcement it had set up the committee.

The members are Dr. Louis L. Kaplan, chairman, C. Ewing Tuttle, B. Herbert Brown, and Mrs. John L. Whitehurst.

The only announcement about the discussion was that the regents had noted Baltiore's decision to end segregation in its city schools in the fall while Maryland's attorney general has ruled that outside the city at least it would be illegal to end segregation until the Supreme Court has entered final decrees and mandates implementing its decision. Such action is not expected until after the court studies briefs which are to be submitted in October.

The university already has opened its graduate divisions to Negroes, as the result of a series of legal actions over a period of several years. The under-graduate schools at College Park have not been opened to Negroes.

The regents today set Oct. 29 for ceremonies installing Dr. Wilson H. Elkins as the new president of the university.

Dr. Elkins, now president of Texas Western College at El Paso, was on hand to confer with the board and part of its discussion was about providing him with a home.

Dr. T. B. Symons, acting president of the University, reported a $60,000 house has been located within a mile and a half of the campus at College Heights Estates.

Dr. Symons said it could be rented and a special committee was empowered to provide a temporary home for the new president and make recommendations later this summer for a permanent residence.

Student Is Held In Bomb Scare

BALTIMORE, June 11 (AP)—A Johns Hopkins University junior from Denver ditched 18 pounds of high explosives at the university's recreation hall today, police said, spreading a bomb scare through the campus.

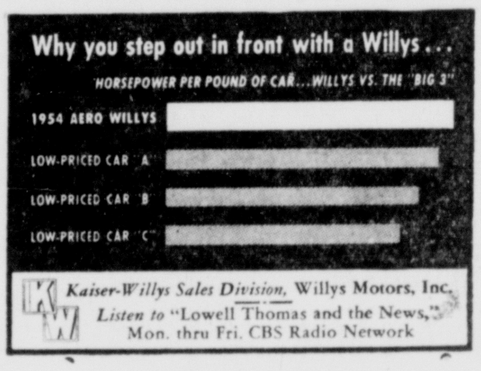

He was booked as Hugh Montague, 20, and charged with illegal possession of military explosives.

Police Capt. Clarence E. German said Montague apparently had kept the explosives hidden at his rooming house for two years. Montague ditched them at Levering Hall, German said, apparently because he didn't want to take them back to Denver now that school is out and didn't know how else to get rid of them.

Open letter to John Long:

In regards your paid advertisements in the local press during your campaign, asking Cumberland's law-abiding citizens to vote for you on June 15.

Your ad of June 2 in the Messenger is a masterpiece of double-talk, Mister Long! It very cleverly attempts to picture you as the honest politician to whom lawless forces are opposed; and you slyly attempt this transparent means in an effort to enlist on your side the sympathy of the voters.

You state that you have operated your office in conformity with the oath of your office:

What did you do concerning the charges contained in the late Mr. Gallen's letters concerning the person who was then affiliated with a horse betting establishment on Baltimore Street during your term of office? Did you actually oppose gambling, Mister Long; or simply opposed certain gambling establishments? And, isn't it true that the Federal gambling laws were really responsible for the curtailment of the local gambling situation, while you attempt to claim credit for it?

You state that you will continue to support any movement for the betterment of Cumberland. Why, then, did you not support the bond issue for the purpose of opening Fifth St.? You and Mrs. Roeder voted in opposition to Eves, Keegan and Edwards on this matter. Is it possible that you both hesitate to see our section of the city prosper?

Did you take sides in the 6 month old strike at National Jet, Mister Long? On the afternoons when a dozen policemen were sent to that plant, is it a fact that some had to be removed from street crossings where our school children had to cross? It is also true that you were informed that your actions in this strike were prolonging the strike and damaging the chances for our new industry locating here. When you ignored this warning, do you not feel that you gave credence to the belief that you were not too deeply interested in the future of Cumberland? Where is your main interest, Mister Long? Luke, maybe?

If you were sincere in supporting any movement for the betterment of our citizenry, why were you absent from every citizens meeting that was held in the city hall for the purpose of protesting any further gas rate increases? You must surely know that thousands of our citizens signed petitions to prevent any further rate increases. Did you sign one, Mister Long? Or are you totally disinterested in the amount of the gas bill that we must pay, each month?

Mister Long, are you SURE that it is the lawless elements that are "leaving no stone unturned" to defeat you? The writer would rather adhere to the belief that it is the law-abiding citizens that will call you to reckoning on June 15th.

In closing, Mister Long, let me point out that one of your crafty advertisements stated, "The handwriting is on the wall." Let us finish this thought: "YOU HAVE BEEN WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE, AND FOUND WANTING."

Mahoney To Seek Federal Aid For Western Maryland

"As governor of Maryland I will seek federal aid for this part of the state," George P. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, said here yesterday as he prepared to wind up his final trip to Western Maryland during the primary campaign.

Mahoney is making a shoe-leather tour of county towns yesterday and will concentrate his efforts today in Garrett County.

"I will call upon the federal government to assume some responsibility for this part of the state which has been on a critical economic list for some time.

Promises Area Effort

"I will devote my time and effort to find employment for the people of this county. The way to find employment is to keep a constant pressure on Washington," he said.

In referring to the prediction of his opponent, H. C. Byrd, that Mahoney could not confidently claim one political unit in the state, Mahoney commented:

"The statement is an insult to the public."

He went on to counter with this question: "Why, as president of the University of Maryland, has Dr Byrd not paid any attention to Allegany County? Dr. Byrd had the chance to make many surveys into the hills and mountains of Western Maryland through university facilities."

"Dr. Byrd also had the opportunity to play a big part in keeping Frostburg State Teachers College at Frostburg when the Marbury Report recommended abandoning it," Mahoney observed. "FSTC was retained through the efforts of a Frostburg citizens committee and Miss Lillian C. Compton, president," he added.

For Maryland Coal

"Dr. Byrd didn't know Allegany and Garrett counties existed until he ran for election," Mahoney charged.

He commented that Maryland coal for Maryland institutions was a part of his platform four years ago and remains one of his top goals.

He concluded that "my devotion to the people of Allegany and Garrett counties has and will always be great because of the two elections when they backed me overwhelmingly."

Last night Mahoney spoke at a rally of an estimated 300 Democrats in the South End Democratic Club.

Mahoney said he would sign "any bonus bill passed by the Legislature which provides for a practical means of financing and submission to the people on referendum."

Byrd In Garrett

Mahoney also pledged to work for redevelopment of Western Maryland's faltering industry, increased aid for Frostburg State Teachers College, and improvement of the Miners Hospital, also at Frostburg.

While Mahoney spoke in Cumberland and his opponent for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, H. C. Byrd toured Garrett County, Mahoney's headquarters was active in Baltimore.

Hugo H. Hoffman, executive director of Mahoney's campaign, issued a statement in which he said Dr. Byrd was "just whistling his way through the graveyard with his latest 'victory' claim."

Byrd had said in Cumberland Wednesday night that he didn't see how Mahoney could carry "more than two or three counties in the primary . . . and more than two" of Baltimore's six legislative districts.

"No matter what he (Byrd) claims," Hoffman said, "his actions speak louder than words. He has finally awakened to the fact that the political bosses can't deliver very much, so he's scurrying about the state trying to establish some last-minute contact with the voters."

Hoffman said Mahoney and his headquarters staff don't believe in kidding the public.

"No statewide polls have been taken to justify any accurate prediction of the outcome of the election, but the results of some recent straw voting have been most encouraging to us," Hoffman added.

Rains Are Heavy At Lake Gordon

Reversing the trend of the past two days, the Evitts Creek water shed at Lakes Gordon and Koon Thursday received more rain than did Cumberland.

C. L. Brotemarkle, assistant superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, reported that .78 of an inch of rain fell at the lakes that day.

Recorded at the Weather Bureau station in Constitution Park since noon Thursday was .54 of an inch.

The rain in nearby Pennsylvania pulled Lake Koon up to one foot, six inches below the spillway, a gain of six inches.

However, Lake Gordon, standing at two feet Thursday, dropped six inches to two feet six inches below the crest.

This means that there has been no gain and the partial ban on the use of water remains in effect.

Hoffman said Mahoney and his headquarters staff don't believe in kidding the public.

"No statewide polls have been taken to justify any accurate prediction of the outcome of the election, but the results of some recent straw voting have been most encouraging to us," Hoffman added.

C. L. Brotemarkle, assistant superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, reported that .78 of an inch of rain fell at the lakes that day.

Recorded at the Weather Bureau station in Constitution Park since noon Thursday was .54 of an inch.

The rain in nearby Pennsylvania pulled Lake Koon up to one foot, six inches below the spillway, a gain of six inches.

However, Lake Gordon, standing at two feet Thursday, dropped six inches to two feet six inches below the crest.

This means that there has been no gain and the partial ban on the use of water remains in effect.

Marriage Survey To Be Conducted

A survey will be conducted here next week by a representative of the U. S. Census Bureau with questions on marriage being asked, according to Ralph E. Pearcy, supervisor of the district office at Pittsburgh.

The survey is part of the Current Population Survey being conducted by the Census Bureau.

Persons currently married or separated will be asked the year in which the current marriage took place while those widowed or divorced will be asked the year of their last marriage. Persons married since 1947 will be asked additional questions on number of times married, state of residence and highest grade of school completed.

The inquiries on marriage are in addition to the regular questions on employment and unemployment which are asked each month in the Current Population Survey which provides official national figures on these important items.

This information on marriage to be collected in the June survey is expected to be a valuable addition to the current knowledge of the pattern of American family life.

The Current Population Survey will be conducted here by Mrs. Olive E. Claar, this city.

Fire Companies Given New Hose

The Allegany County Civil Defense organization has received a shipment of 8,500 feet of two and one-half inch fire hose, which will be distributed among various volunteer fire companies.

Each fire company will receive 500 feet of the hose, except LaVale, Baltimore Pike and Cresaptown. These three units received 1,000 feet of hose last year under the CD program.

To qualify for an allotment of hose each company must have a majority of their membership sign the Civil Defense oath forms, inventory forms on equipment and hose must be filled in, and signing of an agreement with William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense for Allegany County, on certain conditions in accepting the hose.

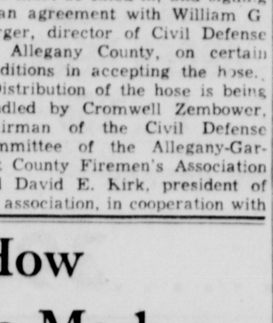

Distribution of the hose is being handled by Cromwell Zembower, chairman of the Civil Defense Committee of the Allegany-Garrett County Firemen's Association and David E. Kirk, president of the association, in cooperation with Barger and J. Walker Chapman, CD supply officer for the county.

County Asked To Pay Water Survey Cost

A letter was received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday from a firm of consulting engineers of Washington in regard to an unpaid balance of $4,506.90 for studies conducted on a proposed Mt. Savage water system.

The engineering firm was employed by the Allegany County Metropolitan Sanitary Commission on September 5, 1951 to make the study. It was determined by the engineering firm that a water system for Mt. Savage would cost an estimated $249,476 and based on an engineering fee of four and one-half per cent of the total estimated cost of the project the firm would receive $11,226.42.

Payments were made by the Metropolitan Sanitary Commission on four occasions from February 5, 1952 through May 1, 1953 totaling $6,719.52, leaving the $4,506.90 balance.

Herbert Heineman, a member of the former Sanitary Commission, said today that when a petition was presented by the required number of Mt. Savage residents requesting formation of a sanitary district in that community it was done.

An allotment of federal funds was granted for preliminary engineering surveys and the county commissioners provided $5,000 to place the Mt. Savage sanitary district in operation. Later on the residents of Mt. Savage rejected the proposed water system plan in a referendum, Heineman explained.

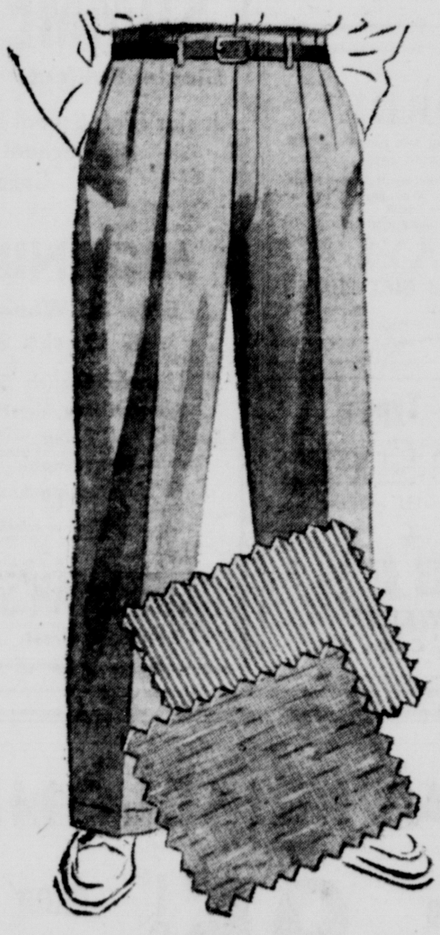

Heineman said the Legislature repealed the act setting up the Metropolitan Sanitary Commission thereby abolishing the setup.

Members of the county board of commissioners said the matter will have to be explored to determine what has to be done. It involves a legal question as to the county's responsibility in the matter.

BARTON—Miss Hazel Inskeep, received a master of arts degree from Teachers College of Columbia University, New York, at the university's commencement exercises last week.

Governor Tells Graduates To Inspire Young Minds

The graduates of Frostburg State Teachers College at the annual commencement exercises yesterday morning were told by Governor McKeldin that they are assuming a great responsibility.

Those entering the teaching profession have a responsibility to remove fear from the minds of children.

"Your's is the happy responsibility of inspiring young minds with the will and ability to think," he said.

No Public Fear

The governor developed through his talk the theme that there is no public fear in this country or in Maryland.

He pointed to the fact that every governor and every legislator of the state for decades has known that the public school teachers of Maryland have no need for fear in expressing their honest thoughts.

"There are solid grounds for the suspicion that the only peddlers of fear in this nation today are those who are preaching so vociferously against it.

"But they're not selling anything.

"Nobody's buying their wares.

"Those hucksters of horror worry aloud about 'thought control' in our colleges and universities, and the instructors and professors take great delight in propounding new ideas to show that they are as free to think and to speak as they ever were.

"The progress in education, the progress in the sciences, the progress in the arts, the new books and the growth of our magazines in variety of subject matter and even greater variety of opinion is proof enough that Americans are not afraid to go on record with their views.

Honor Students Named

At another point in his speech to the 98 graduates, the governor said "intellectual laziness is more dangerous in our time than the imaginary controls of our intellects, dreamed up by the fabricators of fear."

William A. Gunter, Cumberland attorney who is a member of the State Board of Education, was master of ceremonies and distributed diplomas to the 98 graduates.

Honor students among those receiving bachelor of science degrees were announced. Their names and averages for a four-year period are: William Brake, 2.62 out of a possible 3. average; Leslie Goodwin, 2.61; Nelle McCoy, 2.535; Colleen Kreger, 2.531; Thomas Douglas, 2.46; Eliza Wright Carter, 2.42; Betty Ann Hanna, 2.4; Mary Virginia Wiebrecht, 2.34; Joseph T. Butler 2.33 and Vaughn Dullabaun, 2.28.

Honor student among the 11 receiving associate of arts degrees was Roma Carpenter Preman, 2.42.

Reds Get Set In Pakistan

Communists are mixed up in disorders in Pakistan, which is a geographical monstrosity. It consists of two separate areas, almost 800 miles apart at the nearest point by the land route across India, and more than 2,000 miles apart by the water route.

The population of Pakistan, six-sevenths Moslem, includes millions of Moslem refugees from India who replace millions of native Hindus driven out during the communal riots that followed partition and independence.

Pakistan has a representative government which has been working hard to consolidate the nation's freedom and improve its economic status.

West Pakistan, which contains the nation's capital city of Karachi, differs markedly from East Pakistan. The West has nearly six times the area of the East and is comfortably located on the edge of the Moslem world, adjoining Afghanistan and Iran. The East, small in area, has 55 per cent of Pakistan's population and is the center of the world's jute production, which brings in the lion's share of Pakistan's essential foreign exchange.

Human nature being what it is, the people of East Pakistan want to keep more of these advantages for themselves, and share less with West Pakistan.

By appealing to these and other grievances, a Bengali demagogue named Fazlul Huk won a sweeping election victory with active Communist support and promptly started making trouble for Karachi. Public disorder, industrial riots and anti-American demonstrations broke out, encouraged by a local government demanding secession from West Pakistan.

Now the rebellion seems to be under control. But with the Communists on hand, it is likely to be the source of much more trouble in the near future.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Growth Of Bureaucracy

An important phenomenon of modern times is the growth in all countries of government bureaucracies. In a large part of the world, all the economic processes are either government-owned or government-controlled, entailing the employment of increasing numbers of persons by governments.

The largest of all bureaucracies is the Russian. Professor Arnold Brecht, formerly of Leipzig, now in this country, says that in Russia ". . . three bureaucracies exert themselves side by side; one under the regular departments of the government; the second, the secret police, under the minister of the interior; and the third, the party bureaucracy, under the party leadership . . ."

These three bureaucracies are not controlled by public opinion, but only by the party which has mastered the state and tolerates no opposition. It is in total control of all operations of the state which owns all the means of production, distribution and exchange. There are more than 50 federal ministries in Russia that have to be coordinated by the policy of the government which is determined not by the government but by the party.

The United States, during most of its history, avoided a large bureaucracy because of the inherent dislike of Americans for government into their private affairs. As the bureaucracy grew, slowly after the Civil War, with great acceleration during the Roosevelt regime, the problem of separation of powers arose. Whereas in our simpler form of government, Congress could not interfere with the executive, it soon became necessary for the independent regulatory agencies to usurp some of the functions of Congress. In fact, Congress authorized the employment of these powers which heretofore had been regarded as limited to Congress.

A characteristic of any bureaucracy is that the real power over the people is exercised by those who are on the lowest level of government. This is not always noticeable but Americans are becoming more conscious of it in relationship with income tax field checks, during which major decisions are made on the spot. The citizen finds it cheaper not to argue and therefore he accepts these decisions, whether he thinks them right or wrong. A lifelong precedent may be set up then and there.

In such an institution as the State Department, the basis for decisions is too often the result of data provided or omitted or slanted by the men at the various territorial desks, the classic example being the use of the term "agrarian reformers" in the 1940s to describe Chinese Communists who were a well-defined and fairly successful party as early as 1925. In such an agency as the CIA, those charged with the evaluation and elimination of the vast amount of material that comes in can, in a measure, determine what the policy and attitude of government may be. An error of judgment as to data down the line can have historic significance a decade later.

Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia describes the American bureaucracy as operating ". . . through governmental structures in upwards of 100,000 local districts, 17,000 cities, 3,000 counties, and 48 states, and through the vast federal bureaucracy . . ." He says that the ". . . reported direct civilian employment by all the governments totals 6.9 million, or more than one in every twenty-five persons . . ." He further states that the federal government is engaged in 1,400 budgeted projects and programs ". . . into which federal funds are pumped through most of the 2,800 Treasury accounts."

Senator Byrd makes the point:

"All governments in the United States annually are collecting revenue totaling 85 billion dollars; spending more than 100 billion dollars; running deficits of more than 15 billion dollars; and, at present, operating under a public debt burden of more than 300 billion dollars.

"As compared with 25 years ago they have increased revenue collections 700 per cent, expenditures 900 per cent, deficits 1,400 per cent, and public debt 900 per cent."

What we have to face is that whereas the Republicans in the 1952 campaign promised to reduce the bureaucracy, to cut the cost of government and to lessen taxes, very little that really matters has been accomplished in this direction. The assumption must be that little will be done until another election is fought out on the question of economy in government. Maybe that will never happen and the habit of bureaucratic government will become fixed. Too many Americans are developing a vested interest in government jobs.

Hopeful Excavator In The Political Pyramids

McCarthy Record Does Not Rate Him As Isolationist

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—A natural question asked of anyone returning from abroad is: "What do Europeans think about the McCarthy controversy?

It actually is far more a topic of conversation among Americans living in Europe than it is, for instance, among the citizens of Switzerland or France or Britain. Americans there divide about as they do in this country. Most Europeans have exhibited relatively little concern about the issue of internal communism, even though Communists have been discovered in high places in the governments of some of our allies. Lately there have been some manifestations of a growing awareness of the menace.

But, basically, whatever interest there is in the McCarthy episode stems from a belief that the Wisconsin senator is unfriendly to international cooperation. Many of the press dispatches and editorials appearing in European newspapers regularly refer to Senator McCarthy as a "right-wing isolationist." To Europeans, of course, an "isolationist" is one who doesn't want to send American troops to Europe or who doesn't want to appropriate money for economic or military aid aboard. In Europe, they are far more interested in whether an American congressman is sympathetic to them on economic cooperation than on what he does on domestic issues within the United States.

McCarthy No Isolationist

In order to set the record straight on this point—which is susceptible of producing misunderstandings about the attitude of the American Congress toward Europe—this correspondent examined today the roll-call votes of Senator McCarthy on international questions since he entered the Senate in 1947. There is no evidence to justify the characterization of the Wisconsin senator as an "isolationist." In fact, the evidence—which may be a surprise to some readers—is just the other way. Here is the record of how Senator McCarthy voted on significant roll calls:

1947 — Voted for Greek-Turkish Aid Bill and against the Johnson Amendment to strike from the measure the authorizations for military aid. Voted for the Senate authorization of $350 millions for foreign relief. Voted for ratification of the peace treaty with Italy.

1948—Voted for the European Recovery Bill. Was recorded as in favor of the Vandenberg foreign-policy resolution reaffirming faith in the United Nations and advocating voluntary limitation on the use of the veto in the Security Council and more effective efforts to limit armaments and to provide a world police force. Voted for the Ferguson Amendment to admit 200,000 instead of 150,000 displaced persons. Voted for revival of Selective Service Law.

For Loan To Spain

1949—Voted against the Taft-Russell Amendment which would have cut by 10 per cent the authorization for spending by the ECA (Economic Cooperation Administration). Voted for the North Atlantic Security Treaty and against the Taft-Wherry-Watkins reservation declaring that the same treaty was no commitment to arm Western Europe. Voted against even more sweeping reservations proposed by Senator Watkins, Republican, of Utah. Voted for Foreign Military Aid Bill. Voted against shelving the revision of the Displaced Persons Act until 1950.

1950—Voted for a liberalized rather than a tightened law on the admission of displaced persons. Voted for $100 million loan to Spain.

1951—Voted for the resolution approving participation of U. S. land forces in the international army being formed in Western Europe and for the resolution requiring congressional approval for dispatch of additional troops. Offered own amendment — adopted 48 to 41—suggesting revision of existing plans for defense of Europe to permit utilization of the military resources of Spain and Western Germany. Voted for bill to make a two-million-ton wheat purchase by India as a loan. Voted against motions to cut U. S. armed forces fund to $55 billions.

1952—Voted for Senate Foreign Aid Authorization Bill of $6.7 billions.

Voted To Admit Aliens

1953 — Voted for McClellan Amendment to use foreign aid to cut farm surpluses and against Goldwater Amendment pressuring France to grant full self-government to states of Indochina. Voted for legislation to admit 214,000 aliens during next three years, most of them refugees from behind iron curtain.

Senator McCarthy in his voting record went along with various Democrats and Republicans on several amendments to cut down particular appropriations in foreign-aid bills but, when beaten, he always voted on the roll call for final passage for the sums desired by the majority of the Senate. He is not recorded as voting against any final bill for foreign aid.

There have been no important record votes on international questions in the present session. The Wisconsin senator has made several speeches about embargoing all trade with Red China—an issue which is not confined to any party or political faction in the Senate.

If, however, voting records as a whole are to be classified as "isolationist" or "cooperationist," Senator McCarthy cannot justly be characterized either by Europeans or Americans as in the "isolationist" category.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Was in Albany a couple of instalments ago to gander Bob Young railroad the railroads.

Bob's technique of throwing the switch is Dulles' massive retaliation with proxies.

Just when it looks like Bob is up Salt Creek with the mothball fleet he throws in the wax dummies from Yucca Flats.

The Young visitors crashed the Washington Avenue Armory in Albany with 800,000 proxies honed to a voting edge. This was no log jam with toothpicks. There were 6,477,463 outstanding shares as of any minute now.

Did you ever expect to see the Morgans against the Rockefellers with the Vanderbilts refereeing? And an Astor as knock-down time keeper?

Well, that Young man does things in a big way. He shoots a moose to hang up his hat.

Mr. Young's speech of mush-roomed improvements starts at the sauce. He said in a coat-to-coat hookup, "The present management lays red carpet from the gate to the caboose of the 20th Century. I'm going to lay red carpet from New York to Chicago."

That's nine hundred miles of red carpet. Mr. Young has let us down. We figured he would four-track it.

This all started when Bob's uncle gave him a toy train for his birthday. Now, he rates an extra smoke-stack on his cake every birthday.

He collects railroads like stamps. He owns the Tri-Weekly, the Back and Fill, the Long Tunnel, the Miss and Out, the Southwestern, Open Switch and Nowhere, the Downhill and Coast and the Long Green Short Line. Also the Proxy Overland.

He wants to bag the New York Centralmental for his trophy room in the Manhattan storage. Thirty-six years ago he opened a window in a Pullman car. He would like to find that car again.

If you have any spare proxies rush them over to Bob. You can find him in the dining car they dropped at Schenectady.

Learn To Relax: Tension Modern Man's Worst Enemy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Tension is modern man's worst enemy. It precipitates and aggravates numerous emotioinal and physical disturbances. We can avoid this tied-in-knots feeling by taking stock of our daily activities and learning to relax.

A walk down the street of any city will give evidence of tension. Those with wrinkled brow, set jaw, and anxious expression are but part of the picture. We may not realize how tense we are unless a conscious effort is made to test ourselves. While this article is being read, do you have a tight grip on the paper? Are your lips, shoulders, and brow taut? Next time you drive, notice whether the steering wheel is clutched as though it were about to blow away.

Similar observations can be made when writing, eating, golfing, or holding cards at the bridge table. These contracted muscles are outward manifestations of what is going on within.

Tension is not easily overcome because the cause is vague or results from a combination of factors. There must be thousands of situations that put us on guard during the course of the day, and it is surprising that more of us do not develop ulcer or high blood pressure. In addition, many people have never learned to relax. Various methods of relaxation have been advocated and several books have been written on the subject.

General relaxation is induced by lying down and allowing all the muscles to slacken in a progressive fashion. The eyes must be closed and the mind cleared of disturbing thoughts. A one-half hour recess like this may work wonders.

A. B. Gottlober recommends differential relaxation, which is harder to accomplish. In this regimen, all the muscles are relaxed except those used to accomplish the task at hand. When reading the paper, for example, the muscles of the eyes and upper extremities are put into play while the remainder are maintained in a flaccid condition.

When a digestive or circulatory disorder is traceable to tension or anxiety, drugs to relax the nervous system are helpful, along with relaxation. In the spastic bowel, for example, medications and a bland diet are of value but more lasting results are obtained when the individual and his bowel are relaxed.

Every physician has gone through the experience of asking a patient with high blood pressure to rest in his office for 15 minutes before having the pressure rechecked. A drop of 30 to 60 points is a sign that tension plays a role in elevating pressure and the promotion of rest will encourage its reduction.

NO DANGER

Mrs. Y. writes: Is saccharin hard on the heart?

REPLY

No. This is an old misconception.

NERVE DAMAGE

M. T. writes: What is a damaged sensory nerve?

REPLY

The sensory nerves send impulses to the brain. Those of the skin, for example, tell the mind whether an object is hot or cold, rough or smooth. When these structures are damaged, the sense of touch is lost and the area feels numb.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An Ozark mountaineer told Robert Q. Lewis that his daughter had just humiliated him in the eyes of his kinfolk and neighbors by eloping with a man twice her age. "If the bridegroom isn't too old," said Lewis consolingly, "things may work out all right yet. How old did you say he was?" "Twelve!" spat out the Ozarkian angrily.

The distinguished Chinese philosopher, Lin Yutang, declares that "You have really learned to live when you enjoy spending a perfectly useless afternoon in a perfectly useless manner."

"Do you know," inquired my 12-year-old son, Christopher, "who said 'I'll give you a big squeeze when I meet you on the bridge tonight'?" When I recklessly admitted I had not the slightest idea, I learned that it was a toothbrush—talking to the toothpaste!

Adlai Stevenson Sees Disunity In GOP From Standpoint Of Foreign Affairs

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Adlai Stevenson is as salty to talk to person-to-person as his political wisecracks make him out to be.

Interviewing him for television at New York's Savoy Plaza just after he spent a hectic morning speaking at Columbia University's 200th anniversary, Adlai munched an orange, wished he could accompany ex-Sen. Bill Benton on a yachting cruise, remarked that benig under the glare of the TV cameras was a good way to lose weight.

When producer Nick Webster told him, "Keep your head in the same position because we've got it on the wall," Adlai remarked, "I've been wondering all day where my head was."

Webster referred, of course, to the shadow of Stevenson's head.

When Adlai met an assistant flaunting a red-and-orange necktie he wisecracked; "Looks like the Spanish armada." And when I started to say that Stevenson was an authority on government because his grandfather had been vice president of the United States, he remarked: "Don't bring my grandfather in. I wasn't born then."

On the serious side, Stevenson discussed the important question of bipartisan foreign policy which he saw operate first-hand under Roosevelt.

Too Many Dulleses

"The Republican party," he said, "has no unity on the subject of foreign affairs, and we sometimes wonder who the secretary of state might be."

Asked whether he referred to statements by Senator Knowland of California on foreign policy, Stevenson replied:

"And Vice President Nixon. I was going to say Secretary of State Knowland, Secretary of State Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles, leaving some state of confusion. This is what I call foreign policy by the platoon system.

"I don't mean to be derisive about it," Stevenson continued, "but Secretary of State Dulles has a serious problem — which is to maintain the continuity of public support and understanding of what our national policies are. And it's of infinite importance to all of us, whether we're Republicans or Democrats. That's of secondary concern. The main concern is that we have a common policy, that we know where we're going and that we support it as united people."

Stevenson also enumerated the many Republicans who worked under Roosevelt, including his own chief, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox; Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson; Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson; John J. McCloy; Robert Lovett and various other Republicans.

Asked whether these were some of the so-called "traitors" who operated the country for 20 years, Stevenson replied:

"They must have been. As long as the charge is all-inclusive, it includes an awful lot of Republicans as well as Democrats. It would also include General Eisenhower, for he was serving at that time too."

A Great Texan

A great Texan died the other day. His grandfather Maverick put his name on the "maverick" steer that jumps herds and wanders at will over the plains; and Maury Maverick, his grandson, was just as free, just as independent and just as fearless as either his grandfather or the steers on which he puts his name.

Maverick died an early death because he was always in the front line of every battle. He died an early political death because he took on the big power companies, the big oil companies, the big racketeers — people who had plenty of money to defeat him for re-election.

And he died physically last week because he came out of World War I, his breast covered with ribbons and his body covered with wounds. A hole as big as his fist remained in his back. He was too far out in front in France as he was in politics.

Those who suffer from cancer probably don't know it, but it was Maury Maverick, a vigorous young congressman from Texas, who, in the New Deal days, pioneered the first government appropriation for cancer research. His legislation set up the Cancer Institute.

He campaigned for the Tennessee Valley, for slum clearance, back nearly 20 years ago when the going was tough. And he crusaded for 50,000 planes and 100,000 pilots three years before Pearl Harbor when people scoffed at such fantastic, unneeded goals.

And being out in the front line of political battles, the big interests of Texas knocked him off when he came up for re-election. After that he became mayor of San Antonio, and along the little muddy river that runs through the heart of that sprawling Spanish city, you will find today a great monument to Maury Maverick.

It doesn't bear his name. Later generations may forget that he ever had any connection with it. But Mayor Maverick transformed the slums along the sluggish San Antonio River into a replica of an old Spanish village and one of the most beautiful spots in Texas.

Maury has been out of politics in these later years. He sat like Ty Cobb or Babe Ruth on the sidelines while Texas went Republican, while the reactionaries ate high-on-the-hog in Austin, while the oil men financed McCarthy in Washington. And he was discouraged. But when I saw him in San Antonio a few weeks ago he reported that a first glimmer of light was coming back to Texas. Just as that glimmer came over the political horizon of the Texas plains Maury Maverick died.

Merry-Go-Round

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey claims he is being doctored to death. He is getting honorary doctors' degrees at Pittsburgh, Williams, and Lehigh three days running. . . . Col. Otis K. Sadtler, whose name was in headlines when he warned the Pentagon on December 6, 1941, that the Japs would attack in 24 hours, died unheralded and unsung last week.

Titles And Degrees

By Brother Barnabas

One day a certain professional man was introduced to a sprightly young woman as "Doctor" So-and-So. She triggered back: Medical, Dental, Horse, or Divinity?

To leave no doubt as to one's profession, it is better to be specific. Ttitles are so in vogue these days that one must be careful not to offend by omitting the handle to one's name when addressing him.

In Canada, it is said, they do not ask "who's who," but "what's what". If that code were followed on this side of the border we would be referring to "Undertaker" Brown, "Apothecary" Jones, "Bonesetter" Smith, "Preacher" Brimstone.

In Phillips-Exeter College there was a professor who had three lovely daughters. The students referred to them as "The Evidences of Christianity."

A college and a university in Maryland have recently honored themselves in conferring the degree of doctor of laws upon two distinguished presidents, one the President of the United States, and the other the President of State Teacher's College at Frostburg, thus sparking local interest in academic degrees.

Two Kinds of Degrees

Broadly speaking, there are two kinds of degrees, earned and honorary. One represents work, the other patronage.

Any one can be distinguished if he lives long enough, but who wants to be a Methusaleh?

If you want an honest-to-goodness degree, make it homespun. It will wear better and last longer than a scholastic degree, which is often obtained by devious methods. Wearing a plug hat doesn't make one taller.

"But Officer, I'm a college student." Said the traffic cop, "You'll get a ticket just the same. Ignorance is no excuse."

This column is no diploma mill, but it is prepared to offer an "A. B." sheepskin to all comers—not the "bachelor of arts" type, but one meaning the "Aristocracy of the Best."

You don't need to be an an intellectual to win it. Any one in the common walks of life can qualify. One doesn't need to have a "pull." All he needs is "push."

If one can say, "When better mousetraps are made, I'll make them," or "When better pies are made I'll bake them," or "When wife makes better pies I'll eat 'em," he is entitled to his "A. B."

A certain housewife figured that she had baked 400 loaves of bread a year for the last 15 years—6,000 loaves of bread. Put that on her tombstone. The art of baking bread is as transcendent as the art of making sonnets.

One's autograph may not sell for a fortune ever, but it is written on everything we do, just as certainly as John Roebling's name is inscribed on Brooklyn Bridge, or Turner's name on his masterpieces, or Duncan Phyfe's on his tables.

New Measure of Men

One day a drinking man ambled up to T. DeWitt Talmadge and stammered, "You don't know me! I'm one of your son Frank's converts."

"You look like some of Frank's work," replied the famous divine.

Sometimes one wonders whether in our country we are "drunk with sight of power." Knowing more and more and less and less may end in knowing everything about nothing, and knowing nothing about the most important thing in life.

The Reverend John Watson (Ian Maclaren) had in his congregation a man with a humble and reverent face who greatly impressed his small son. One day young Watson saw this man breaking stones. For a time he was shocked, until his father said, "James breaks stone for a living, but he knows more about God than any person I ever met."

The standards by which we measure men, I Q meaning "intelligence quotient" and PQ, "personality quotient," are becoming passe as we turn to a new standard, which I term "Livingness quotient."

Livingness is what Lucy Larcom saw in Phillips Brooks when she said "there is the most living man I ever saw."

Many people are non-viable from the shoulders up. A Los Angeles undertaker advertised: "Why go around half dead when I will bury your for $34?"

That is not so good a bargain as to train with the Prince of Life and come alive in every department of your being.

If you want to know how living your are in the popular mind, meet some one on the sidewalk who expresses surprise at seeing you alive. "When I saw in the paper that you had died, I said 'Oh!'" leaving you blank as to just what the ejaculation meant.

Remember the man who swallowed the thermometer and died by degrees, and read and ponder.

Reds Get Set In Pakistan

Communists are mixed up in disorders in Pakistan, which is a geographical monstrosity. It consists of two separate areas, almost 800 miles apart at the nearest point by the land route across India, and more than 2,000 miles apart by the water route.

The population of Pakistan, six-sevenths Moslem, includes millions of Moslem refugees from India who replace millions of native Hindus driven out during the communal riots that followed partition and independence.

Pakistan has a representative government which has been working hard to consolidate the nation's freedom and improve its economic status.

West Pakistan, which contains the nation's capital city of Karachi, differs markedly from East Pakistan. The West has nearly six times the area of the East and is comfortably located on the edge of the Moslem world, adjoining Afghanistan and Iran. The East, small in area, has 55 per cent of Pakistan's population and is the center of the world's jute production, which brings in the lion's share of Pakistan's essential foreign exchange.

Human nature being what it is, the people of East Pakistan want to keep more of these advantages for themselves, and share less with West Pakistan.

By appealing to these and other grievances, a Bengali demagogue named Fazlul Huk won a sweeping election victory with active Communist support and promptly started making trouble for Karachi. Public disorder, industrial riots and anti-American demonstrations broke out, encouraged by a local government demanding secession from West Pakistan.

Now the rebellion seems to be under control. But with the Communists on hand, it is likely to be the source of much more trouble in the near future.

These Days

Growth Of Bureaucracy

An important phenomenon of modern times is the growth in all countries of government bureaucracies. In a large part of the world, all the economic processes are either government-owned or government-controlled, entailing the employment of increasing numbers of persons by governments.

The largest of all bureaucracies is the Russian. Professor Arnold Brecht, formerly of Leipzig, now in this country, says that in Russia ". . . three bureaucracies exert themselves side by side; one under the regular departments of the government; the second, the secret police, under the minister of the interior; and the third, the party bureaucracy, under the party leadership . . ."

These three bureaucracies are not controlled by public opinion, but only by the party which has mastered the state and tolerates no opposition. It is in total control of all operations of the state which owns all the means of production, distribution and exchange. There are more than 50 federal ministries in Russia that have to be coordinated by the policy of the government which is determined not by the government but by the party.

The United States, during most of its history, avoided a large bureaucracy because of the inherent dislike of Americans for government into their private affairs. As the bureaucracy grew, slowly after the Civil War, with great acceleration during the Roosevelt regime, the problem of separation of powers arose. Whereas in our simpler form of government, Congress could not interfere with the executive, it soon became necessary for the independent regulatory agencies to usurp some of the functions of Congress. In fact, Congress authorized the employment of these powers which heretofore had been regarded as limited to Congress.

A characteristic of any bureaucracy is that the real power over the people is exercised by those who are on the lowest level of government. This is not always noticeable but Americans are becoming more conscious of it in relationship with income tax field checks, during which major decisions are made on the spot. The citizen finds it cheaper not to argue and therefore he accepts these decisions, whether he thinks them right or wrong. A lifelong precedent may be set up then and there.

In such an institution as the State Department, the basis for decisions is too often the result of data provided or omitted or slanted by the men at the various territorial desks, the classic example being the use of the term "agrarian reformers" in the 1940s to describe Chinese Communists who were a well-defined and fairly successful party as early as 1925. In such an agency as the CIA, those charged with the evaluation and elimination of the vast amount of material that comes in can, in a measure, determine what the policy and attitude of government may be. An error of judgment as to data down the line can have historic significance a decade later.

Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia describes the American bureaucracy as operating ". . . through governmental structures in upwards of 100,000 local districts, 17,000 cities, 3,000 counties, and 48 states, and through the vast federal bureaucracy . . ." He says that the ". . . reported direct civilian employment by all the governments totals 6.9 million, or more than one in every twenty-five persons . . ." He further states that the federal government is engaged in 1,400 budgeted projects and programs ". . . into which federal funds are pumped through most of the 2,800 Treasury accounts."

Senator Byrd makes the point:

"All governments in the United States annually are collecting revenue totaling 85 billion dollars; spending more than 100 billion dollars; running deficits of more than 15 billion dollars; and, at present, operating under a public debt burden of more than 300 billion dollars.

"As compared with 25 years ago they have increased revenue collections 700 per cent, expenditures 900 per cent, deficits 1,400 per cent, and public debt 900 per cent."

What we have to face is that whereas the Republicans in the 1952 campaign promised to reduce the bureaucracy, to cut the cost of government and to lessen taxes, very little that really matters has been accomplished in this direction. The assumption must be that little will be done until another election is fought out on the question of economy in government. Maybe that will never happen and the habit of bureaucratic government will become fixed. Too many Americans are developing a vested interest in government jobs.

Hopeful Excavator In The Political Pyramids

McCarthy Record Does Not Rate Him As Isolationist

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—A natural question asked of anyone returning from abroad is: "What do Europeans think about the McCarthy controversy?

It actually is far more a topic of conversation among Americans living in Europe than it is, for instance, among the citizens of Switzerland or France or Britain. Americans there divide about as they do in this country. Most Europeans have exhibited relatively little concern about the issue of internal communism, even though Communists have been discovered in high places in the governments of some of our allies. Lately there have been some manifestations of a growing awareness of the menace.

But, basically, whatever interest there is in the McCarthy episode stems from a belief that the Wisconsin senator is unfriendly to international cooperation. Many of the press dispatches and editorials appearing in European newspapers regularly refer to Senator McCarthy as a "right-wing isolationist." To Europeans, of course, an "isolationist" is one who doesn't want to send American troops to Europe or who doesn't want to appropriate money for economic or military aid aboard. In Europe, they are far more interested in whether an American congressman is sympathetic to them on economic cooperation than on what he does on domestic issues within the United States.

McCarthy No Isolationist

In order to set the record straight on this point—which is susceptible of producing misunderstandings about the attitude of the American Congress toward Europe—this correspondent examined today the roll-call votes of Senator McCarthy on international questions since he entered the Senate in 1947. There is no evidence to justify the characterization of the Wisconsin senator as an "isolationist." In fact, the evidence—which may be a surprise to some readers—is just the other way. Here is the record of how Senator McCarthy voted on significant roll calls:

1947 — Voted for Greek-Turkish Aid Bill and against the Johnson Amendment to strike from the measure the authorizations for military aid. Voted for the Senate authorization of $350 millions for foreign relief. Voted for ratification of the peace treaty with Italy.

1948—Voted for the European Recovery Bill. Was recorded as in favor of the Vandenberg foreign-policy resolution reaffirming faith in the United Nations and advocating voluntary limitation on the use of the veto in the Security Council and more effective efforts to limit armaments and to provide a world police force. Voted for the Ferguson Amendment to admit 200,000 instead of 150,000 displaced persons. Voted for revival of Selective Service Law.

For Loan To Spain

1949—Voted against the Taft-Russell Amendment which would have cut by 10 per cent the authorization for spending by the ECA (Economic Cooperation Administration). Voted for the North Atlantic Security Treaty and against the Taft-Wherry-Watkins reservation declaring that the same treaty was no commitment to arm Western Europe. Voted against even more sweeping reservations proposed by Senator Watkins, Republican, of Utah. Voted for Foreign Military Aid Bill. Voted against shelving the revision of the Displaced Persons Act until 1950.

1950—Voted for a liberalized rather than a tightened law on the admission of displaced persons. Voted for $100 million loan to Spain.

1951—Voted for the resolution approving participation of U. S. land forces in the international army being formed in Western Europe and for the resolution requiring congressional approval for dispatch of additional troops. Offered own amendment — adopted 48 to 41—suggesting revision of existing plans for defense of Europe to permit utilization of the military resources of Spain and Western Germany. Voted for bill to make a two-million-ton wheat purchase by India as a loan. Voted against motions to cut U. S. armed forces fund to $55 billions.

1952—Voted for Senate Foreign Aid Authorization Bill of $6.7 billions.

Voted To Admit Aliens

1953 — Voted for McClellan Amendment to use foreign aid to cut farm surpluses and against Goldwater Amendment pressuring France to grant full self-government to states of Indochina. Voted for legislation to admit 214,000 aliens during next three years, most of them refugees from behind iron curtain.

Senator McCarthy in his voting record went along with various Democrats and Republicans on several amendments to cut down particular appropriations in foreign-aid bills but, when beaten, he always voted on the roll call for final passage for the sums desired by the majority of the Senate. He is not recorded as voting against any final bill for foreign aid.

There have been no important record votes on international questions in the present session. The Wisconsin senator has made several speeches about embargoing all trade with Red China—an issue which is not confined to any party or political faction in the Senate.

If, however, voting records as a whole are to be classified as "isolationist" or "cooperationist," Senator McCarthy cannot justly be characterized either by Europeans or Americans as in the "isolationist" category.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Was in Albany a couple of instalments ago to gander Bob Young railroad the railroads.

Bob's technique of throwing the switch is Dulles' massive retaliation with proxies.

Just when it looks like Bob is up Salt Creek with the mothball fleet he throws in the wax dummies from Yucca Flats.

The Young visitors crashed the Washington Avenue Armory in Albany with 800,000 proxies honed to a voting edge. This was no log jam with toothpicks. There were 6,477,463 outstanding shares as of any minute now.

Did you ever expect to see the Morgans against the Rockefellers with the Vanderbilts refereeing? And an Astor as knock-down time keeper?

Well, that Young man does things in a big way. He shoots a moose to hang up his hat.

Mr. Young's speech of mushroomed improvements starts at the sauce. He said in a coat-to-coat hookup, "The present management lays red carpet from the gate to the caboose of the 20th Century. I'm going to lay red carpet from New York to Chicago."

That's nine hundred miles of red carpet. Mr. Young has let us down. We figured he would four-track it.

This all started when Bob's uncle gave him a toy train for his birthday. Now, he rates an extra smoke-stack on his cake every birthday.

He collects railroads like stamps. He owns the Tri-Weekly, the Back and Fill, the Long Tunnel, the Miss and Out, the Southwestern, Open Switch and Nowhere, the Downhill and Coast and the Long Green Short Line. Also the Proxy Overland.

He wants to bag the New York Centralmental for his trophy room in the Manhattan storage. Thirty-six years ago he opened a window in a Pullman car. He would like to find that car again.

If you have any spare proxies rush them over to Bob. You can find him in the dining car they dropped at Schenectady.

Learn To Relax: Tension Modern Man's Worst Enemy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Tension is modern man's worst enemy. It precipitates and aggravates numerous emotioinal and physical disturbances. We can avoid this tied-in-knots feeling by taking stock of our daily activities and learning to relax.

A walk down the street of any city will give evidence of tension. Those with wrinkled brow, set jaw, and anxious expression are but part of the picture. We may not realize how tense we are unless a conscious effort is made to test ourselves. While this article is being read, do you have a tight grip on the paper? Are your lips, shoulders, and brow taut? Next time you drive, notice whether the steering wheel is clutched as though it were about to blow away.

Similar observations can be made when writing, eating, golfing, or holding cards at the bridge table. These contracted muscles are outward manifestations of what is going on within.

Tension is not easily overcome because the cause is vague or results from a combination of factors. There must be thousands of situations that put us on guard during the course of the day, and it is surprising that more of us do not develop ulcer or high blood pressure. In addition, many people have never learned to relax. Various methods of relaxation have been advocated and several books have been written on the subject.

General relaxation is induced by lying down and allowing all the muscles to slacken in a progressive fashion. The eyes must be closed and the mind cleared of disturbing thoughts. A one-half hour recess like this may work wonders.

A. B. Gottlober recommends differential relaxation, which is harder to accomplish. In this regimen, all the muscles are relaxed except those used to accomplish the task at hand. When reading the paper, for example, the muscles of the eyes and upper extremities are put into play while the remainder are maintained in a flaccid condition.

When a digestive or circulatory disorder is traceable to tension or anxiety, drugs to relax the nervous system are helpful, along with relaxation. In the spastic bowel, for example, medications and a bland diet are of value but more lasting results are obtained when the individual and his bowel are relaxed.

Every physician has gone through the experience of asking a patient with high blood pressure to rest in his office for 15 minutes before having the pressure rechecked. A drop of 30 to 60 points is a sign that tension plays a role in elevating pressure and the promotion of rest will encourage its reduction.

NO DANGER

Mrs. Y. writes: Is saccharin hard on the heart?

REPLY

No. This is an old misconception.

NERVE DAMAGE

M. T. writes: What is a damaged sensory nerve?

REPLY

The sensory nerves send impulses to the brain. Those of the skin, for example, tell the mind whether an object is hot or cold, rough or smooth. When these structures are damaged, the sense of touch is lost and the area feels numb.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An Ozark mountaineer told Robert Q. Lewis that his daughter had just humiliated him in the eyes of his kinfolk and neighbors by eloping with a man twice her age. "If the bridegroom isn't too old," said Lewis consolingly, "things may work out all right yet. How old did you say he was?" "Twelve!" spat out the Ozarkian angrily.

The distinguished Chinese philosopher, Lin Yutang, declares that "You have really learned to live when you enjoy spending a perfectly useless afternoon in a perfectly useless manner."

"Do you know," inquired my 12-year-old son, Christopher, "who said 'I'll give you a big squeeze when I meet you on the bridge tonight'?" When I recklessly admitted I had not the slightest idea, I learned that it was a toothbrush—talking to the toothpaste!

Adlai Stevenson Sees Disunity In GOP From Standpoint Of Foreign Affairs

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Adlai Stevenson is as salty to talk to person-to-person as his political wisecracks make him out to be.

Interviewing him for television at New York's Savoy Plaza just after he spent a hectic morning speaking at Columbia University's 200th anniversary, Adlai munched an orange, wished he could accompany ex-Sen. Bill Benton on a yachting cruise, remarked that benig under the glare of the TV cameras was a good way to lose weight.

When producer Nick Webster told him, "Keep your head in the same position because we've got it on the wall," Adlai remarked, "I've been wondering all day where my head was."

Webster referred, of course, to the shadow of Stevenson's head.

When Adlai met an assistant flaunting a red-and-orange necktie he wisecracked; "Looks like the Spanish armada." And when I started to say that Stevenson was an authority on government because his grandfather had been vice president of the United States, he remarked: "Don't bring my grandfather in. I wasn't born then."

On the serious side, Stevenson discussed the important question of bipartisan foreign policy which he saw operate first-hand under Roosevelt.

Too Many Dulleses

"The Republican party," he said, "has no unity on the subject of foreign affairs, and we sometimes wonder who the secretary of state might be."

Asked whether he referred to statements by Senator Knowland of California on foreign policy, Stevenson replied:

"And Vice President Nixon. I was going to say Secretary of State Knowland, Secretary of State Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles, leaving some state of confusion. This is what I call foreign policy by the platoon system.

"I don't mean to be derisive about it," Stevenson continued, "but Secretary of State Dulles has a serious problem — which is to maintain the continuity of public support and understanding of what our national policies are. And it's of infinite importance to all of us, whether we're Republicans or Democrats. That's of secondary concern. The main concern is that we have a common policy, that we know where we're going and that we support it as united people."

Stevenson also enumerated the many Republicans who worked under Roosevelt, including his own chief, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox; Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson; Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson; John J. McCloy; Robert Lovett and various other Republicans.

Asked whether these were some of the so-called "traitors" who operated the country for 20 years, Stevenson replied:

"They must have been. As long as the charge is all-inclusive, it includes an awful lot of Republicans as well as Democrats. It would also include General Eisenhower, for he was serving at that time too."

A Great Texan

A great Texan died the other day. His grandfather Maverick put his name on the "maverick" steer that jumps herds and wanders at will over the plains; and Maury Maverick, his grandson, was just as free, just as independent and just as fearless as either his grandfather or the steers on which he puts his name.

Maverick died an early death because he was always in the front line of every battle. He died an early political death because he took on the big power companies, the big oil companies, the big racketeers — people who had plenty of money to defeat him for re-election.

And he died physically last week because he came out of World War I, his breast covered with ribbons and his body covered with wounds. A hole as big as his fist remained in his back. He was too far out in front in France as he was in politics.

Those who suffer from cancer probably don't know it, but it was Maury Maverick, a vigorous young congressman from Texas, who, in the New Deal days, pioneered the first government appropriation for cancer research. His legislation set up the Cancer Institute.

He campaigned for the Tennessee Valley, for slum clearance, back nearly 20 years ago when the going was tough. And he crusaded for 50,000 planes and 100,000 pilots three years before Pearl Harbor when people scoffed at such fantastic, unneeded goals.

And being out in the front line of political battles, the big interests of Texas knocked him off when he came up for re-election. After that he became mayor of San Antonio, and along the little muddy river that runs through the heart of that sprawling Spanish city, you will find today a great monument to Maury Maverick.

It doesn't bear his name. Later generations may forget that he ever had any connection with it. But Mayor Maverick transformed the slums along the sluggish San Antonio River into a replica of an old Spanish village and one of the most beautiful spots in Texas.

Maury has been out of politics in these later years. He sat like Ty Cobb or Babe Ruth on the sidelines while Texas went Republican, while the reactionaries ate high-on-the-hog in Austin, while the oil men financed McCarthy in Washington. And he was discouraged. But when I saw him in San Antonio a few weeks ago he reported that a first glimmer of light was coming back to Texas. Just as that glimmer came over the political horizon of the Texas plains Maury Maverick died.

Merry-Go-Round

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey claims he is being doctored to death. He is getting honorary doctors' degrees at Pittsburgh, Williams, and Lehigh three days running. . . . Col. Otis K. Sadtler, whose name was in headlines when he warned the Pentagon on December 6, 1941, that the Japs would attack in 24 hours, died unheralded and unsung last week.

Titles And Degrees

By Brother Barnabas

One day a certain professional man was introduced to a sprightly young woman as "Doctor" So-and-So. She triggered back: Medical, Dental, Horse, or Divinity?

To leave no doubt as to one's profession, it is better to be specific. Ttitles are so in vogue these days that one must be careful not to offend by omitting the handle to one's name when addressing him.

In Canada, it is said, they do not ask "who's who," but "what's what". If that code were followed on this side of the border we would be referring to "Undertaker" Brown, "Apothecary" Jones, "Bonesetter" Smith, "Preacher" Brimstone.

In Phillips-Exeter College there was a professor who had three lovely daughters. The students referred to them as "The Evidences of Christianity."

A college and a university in Maryland have recently honored themselves in conferring the degree of doctor of laws upon two distinguished presidents, one the President of the United States, and the other the President of State Teacher's College at Frostburg, thus sparking local interest in academic degrees.

Two Kinds of Degrees

Broadly speaking, there are two kinds of degrees, earned and honorary. One represents work, the other patronage.

Any one can be distinguished if he lives long enough, but who wants to be a Methusaleh?

If you want an honest-to-goodness degree, make it homespun. It will wear better and last longer than a scholastic degree, which is often obtained by devious methods. Wearing a plug hat doesn't make one taller.

"But Officer, I'm a college student." Said the traffic cop, "You'll get a ticket just the same. Ignorance is no excuse."

This column is no diploma mill, but it is prepared to offer an "A. B." sheepskin to all comers—not the "bachelor of arts" type, but one meaning the "Aristocracy of the Best."

You don't need to be an an intellectual to win it. Any one in the common walks of life can qualify. One doesn't need to have a "pull." All he needs is "push."

If one can say, "When better mousetraps are made, I'll make them," or "When better pies are made I'll bake them," or "When wife makes better pies I'll eat 'em," he is entitled to his "A. B."

A certain housewife figured that she had baked 400 loaves of bread a year for the last 15 years—6,000 loaves of bread. Put that on her tombstone. The art of baking bread is as transcendent as the art of making sonnets.

14 To Start In Rich Race At New York

Winner In Belmont Stakes Gets $90,000; One Filly Will Run

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—The traffic promises to be heavy at Belmont Park tomorrow afternoon when 13 colts and one filly are scheduled to battle it out in the 86th and richest of all Belmont Stakes.

Although the "test of the champion" may lack the quality of most Belmonts, it is a record-equalling field of 14 for the mile and one-half grind considered America's premier test for 3-year-olds. Fourteen starters would jack the pot to $126,100, with the winner collecting $90,000.

14 Started In 1875

Fourteen started in the ninth Belmont in 1875, and never before nor since have the premises been so cluttered up.

The King Ranch pair of High Gun and Riverina, first filly to tackle the Belmont distance in 22 years, has been tabbed as the probable favorite at 5-2 odds but it would be no great surprise if Correlation had the heaviest parimutuel backing at post-time.

Correlation, the California flyer owned by Robert S. Lytle, had that distinction in the Derby and the Preakness. He finished sixth to Determine in the Derby and second to Hasty Road in the Preakness. His odds for tomorrow have been set at 3-1, and Jockey Eddie Arcaro won't do him any harm as he substitutes for the suspended Willie Shoemaker.

Guerin Rides High Gun

Eric Guerin, who won the Belmont last June with Native Dancer, will be aboard High Gun, winner of the Peter Pan Handicap a week ago. Riverina will be ridden by Henry Moreno. The filly gets in with 121 pounds, five less than the colts.

Others in the classic, to be televised and broadcast on the CBS network from 3:30-4 p.m. EST, are:

Hal Price Headley's Pinetum; the C. T. Chenery entry of Prince Hill and Permian; Limelight, from the Rancho Casitas stable of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoffman; C. V. Whitney's Fisherman, second in the Peter Pan and son of the 1947 winner, Phelanx; John Barry Ryan's Buttevant; the Fodcatcher Farm's Chevation; the Llangollen farm's Porterhouse, 2-year-old champion in 1953; Mrs. J.R.H. Thouron's War of Roses; William Goadby Loew's Kilimanjaro, a surprise entry; and the Greentree Stables Palm Tree.

36 CCC Golfers Named For Test

Hagerstown Host To Locals Sunday

Thirty-six players have been named by the Men's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club for its match with the Fountain Head Country Club Sunday in Hagerstown.

Others will be added today to make a team of 40 players.

A buffet dinner will be served after tomorrow's match.

Others desiring to participate are requested to contact the golf shop or Carroll Boggs, pro.

Cumberland opened its season with a 31-2 win over the Somerset (Pa.) Country Club on May 19.

Tentative lineup of Cumberland players and tee off time for tomorrow:

12:30—Clifton Roby and Harry Fritz.

12:40—Ed Mattingly and Orville W. Jackson.

Six Players Involved In 3-Way Swap

Chisox Get Martin, McGhee Of Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, June 11 (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics, Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators today completed a three-way swap of six players and some cash, with southpaw Morrie Martin, the chief figure in the deal, winding up with the White Sox.

Paul Richards, manager of the American League leading White Sox, said Martin, "if he pitches the way we know he can, could mean the pennant for us. He's extra pitcher we need."

Frank Lane, the super-trader of the White Sox, started the deal rolling by swapping Constantine (Gus) Keriazakos, $60,000 bonus pitcher, to the Senators for John (Sonny) Dixon and $20,000. The Athletics coveted Dixon so Lane had to get the 29-year-old relief specialist to do business with the A's.

No sooner did Lane have Dixon, he wrapped the pitcher in a package with another hurler, Al Sima, and promising rookie outfielder Bill Wilson and sent them along with a reported $20,000 to the A's for Martin and outfielder Ed McGhee. It is reported that McGhee, who came to the A's in 1953 was tossed in at the last minute when Richards expressed need of another outfielder to replace Wilson. McGhee is hitting .229.

Earle Mack, general manager of the Athletics, said Wilson was the key player in the deal so far as he was concerned. Dixon is rated a pretty good relief pitcher and so is Sima, said Mack. Richards said he thought Wilson had the makings of a star but that the Sox needed another solid lefthander to help in a bid for their first pennant in 25 years.

INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 11—(INS) — Determine and Imbros, Andy Crevolin's formidable stakes stars, headlined a powerful nine-horse field named today for tomorrow's inaugural running of the $100,000-added Californian at Hollywood Park.

Strongest competition for the Crevolin tandem is anticipated from Fleet Bird, Calumet Farm's hard-knocking mile and three-sixteenths world record holder, and Ada L. Rice's Pet Bully, flown in for the rich event from the east, where he won his last four starts.

The race will have a gross purse of $121,000 if all nine entries go to the post, with a net of $75,300 to the winner; $20,000 for second, $15,000 for third, and $10,000 for fourth.

Macks Flatly Reject Offer By Syndicate

Group Would Purchase A's For $3 Million

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP) — The Mack family has flatly rejected an offer by a Philadelphia syndicate to buy the Athletics at a price that would have brought Connie Mack and sons Roy and Earle a net profit of $2,000,000.

A baseball source informed the Associated Press today that this group, eager to keep the Athletics in Philadelphia, had offered Roy and Earle Mack, who control the club, $3,150,000 for it.

Such an offer would have netted the Mack brothers a profit of $700,000 each and their father a profit of $600,000.

The brothers gained control of the A's in 1950 after borrowing $1,750,000 from the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. to pay off the other stockholders. They have paid back $600,000 on the loan.

Miksis Wallops Homer In Tenth To Halt Giants

Eddie Hits First Pitch To Win For Cubs, 5-4

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Eddie Miksis' first homer of the season in the 10th inning gave Chicago a 5-4 victory over New York today and inflicted only the second Giant defeat in 10 games on a surging western trip.

The Giants, whose defense collapsed for six errors, had a four-game winning streak snapped and temporarily dropped from a first-place tie with the Dodgers, who play at Cincinnati tonight.

Miksis' game-deciding blast on the first pitch in the tenth by Marv Grissom, fifth Giant pitcher, gave the victory to Cub reliefer Jim Davis, who is Grissom's nephew.

The Giants had tied the score at 4-4 in the ninth on Ray Katt's first major league homer with none aboard.

Grissom had hurled from the ninth inning, following starter Jim Hearn, Hoyt Wilhelm, Alex Konikowski and John McCall.

Davis, who got his second victory against two losses, entered the game in the 10th—the third Cub pitcher after starter Johnny Klippstein and Hal Jeffcoat.

Katt's homer in the ninth came when it appeared Jeffcoat had salvaged the third triumph of the season over the Giants for Klippstein.

Russo, Dosher, Grant, Arduini To Ride Here

Saportas, Townsley, Chenoweth, Pearce Are Among Trainers

Jockeys Tony Russo, Patsy Grant, Jimmy Edwards, Eugene Dosher and Ray Arduini have signified that they will ride at Fairgo during the 10-day race meeting of the Cumberland Fair Association, June 23-July 3.

Russo, who has performed at the local half miler in the past, rode for the Buddah Stable last year. During the recent Pimlico meet Tony was aboard Don Jr. the day the latter finished in a dead heat for win.

Grant, Dosher and Arduini all have ridden at Fairgo in past meets.

Among the better known trainers who will race here are R. L. Townsley and C. P. Chenoweth, and Gordon Pearce, Baltimoreans; Mrs. George A. "Babe" Saportas, Jr., of Monkton, Md., and O. DeCrescent.

Mrs. Saportas who will handle a string of four horses, has been the top trainer at Fairgo five times in the last six years. In 1952, the Babe set an all-time record when she saddled 11 winners in 10 days. The previous mark here was held by J. Bernard Bond, Claude M. Feltner and A. L. Leith Sr., who were deadlocked at nine wins each.

Chenoweth's string includes Good Valley, Cross O'Lite and Loksgood. DeCrescent's contingent includes Dutch King, a two-times winner at Ascot Park, and Suebarb. Joyce's Joy, Moose Pone, Fleeting Heart, Logic and Clari de Lune are the Pearce breadwinners.

Joey Giardello Decisions Jones

Philadelphian Cops Unanimous Verdict

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Joey Giardello staved off a furious last round finish by Bobby Jones, the man the wise guys couldn't "fix", to win an unanimous decision in a bristling 10-round match tonight at Madison Square Garden. A chorus of boos greeted the verdict. Giardello weighed 159¼, Jones 157.

Jones, who spurned an alleged $15,000 bribe offer by heavyweight Clarence Henry a week ago, went all out in a driving finish that didn't quite convince the judges.

Judges Frank Forbes and Artie Aidala and Referee Al Berl each voted 5-4-1 for the Philadelphia slugger who was upset by Pierre Langlois in his last fight, May 21. The AP card also was 5-4-1 for Giardello in a very close finish.

The throw was the second of two tosses which broke his standing world record of 60 feet, 5¾ inches set in the same Los Angeles Coliseum where he competed tonight.

An earlier throw which also broke the record cleared 60 feet, 6 inches. Thus, within five minutes O'Brien established two new unofficial world records.

Connolly, Hart Cop Net Tests At Wimbledon

U. S. Wightman Cup Team Takes 3-0 Lead

WIMBLEDON, England, June 11 (AP) — Maureen Connolly and Doris Hart rang up easy singles victories but America's doubles team was hard-pressed to send the U.S. off to a 3-0 lead over Great Britain today in the Wightman Cup tennis competition.

Mrs. Margaret Osborne du Pont of Wilmington, Del., the U.S. cup captain, and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., had to fight back from a 1-5 deficit in the third set to beat a pair of 19-year-old English girls, Angela Buxton and Pat Hird, 2-6-6-4, 7-5.

Miss Connolly, America's world tennis queen from San Diego, Calif., cut down Helen Fletcher in the opening singles match, 6-1, 6-3. With a powerful backcourt attack, the California miss won the first set in 13 minutes and took a quick 4-0 lead in the second set before letting her opponent come up for air.

Miss Hart, America's No. 2 woman player from Coral Gables, Fla., was little less impressive in blowing aside Ann Shilcock, 6-4, 6-1. Only at the start of the opening set when Miss Hart lost her service to let the score be tied 2-2 was there any semblance of a contest.

The English doubles team—Miss Hird was a last minute substitute—completely outplayed the Americans in the first set and after yielding the second, 6-4, raced to a 5-1 advantage in the third.

With victory in sight, the inexperienced English girls became obviously tense and the Americans won six straight games for the match. The U.S. tandem, four times Wimbledon women's doubles champions, steadied their games and waited for the excited British lassies to make mistakes.

Tomorrow Miss Brough will play Miss Buxton and Miss Connolly will team with Miss Hart against Misses Fletcher and Shilcock in doubles.

Bolt's 126 Heads Field In Virginia

Shelley Mayfield Is Second With 129

By ROBERT MOORE

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., June 11 (AP)—Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., held a three-stroke advantage midway in the $15,000 Virginia Beach Open golf tournament today despite an all-time record-tying round of 60 fired by chunky Wally Ulrich of Maplewood, N. J.

Bolt shot a seven-under-par 62 to go with his round of 64 yesterday for a 36-hole total of 126, which also tied a record.

Ulrich, though, was the big show in this second round of play over the par 69 Cavalier Yacht and Country Club course. The 205-pound native of Austin, Minn., came within a foot of breaking the 18-hole Professional Golfers Assn. record held jointly by Ted Kroll, Al Brosch and Bill Nary.

Ulrich came up to the 18th hole needing only a par to tie the record and a birdie to establish a new one. He dumped his tee shot on the back edge of the green of the 200-yard water-flanked hole. Taking a long while to line up the 30-foot putt, Ulrich made the shot. The ball went straight as an arrow toward the hole and rolled dead less than a foot short.

Despite his 60, Ulrich, who had a 71 yesterday, was tied only for third with two other players — Pete Cooper of Branford, Fla., and George Fazio of Clementon, N. J. The trio had totals of 131, five strokes off Bolt's pace.

Sandwiched between Bolt and these three was Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., who toured the 6-065-yard layout today in 64 for a two-round total of 129.

Yankees Snap Winning Streak Of White Sox, 3-2

14 To Start In Rich Race At New York

Winner In Belmont Stakes Gets $90,000; One Filly Will Run

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—The traffic promises to be heavy at Belmont Park tomorrow afternoon when 13 colts and one filly are scheduled to battle it out in the 86th and richest of all Belmont Stakes.

Although the "test of the champion" may lack the quality of most Belmonts, it is a record-equalling field of 14 for the mile and one-half grind considered America's premier test for 3-year-olds. Fourteen starters would jack the pot to $126,100, with the winner collecting $90,000.

14 Started In 1875

Fourteen started in the ninth Belmont in 1875, and never before nor since have the premises been so cluttered up.

The King Ranch pair of High Gun and Riverina, first filly to tackle the Belmont distance in 22 years, has been tabbed as the probable favorite at 5-2 odds but it would be no great surprise if Correlation had the heaviest parimutuel backing at post-time.

Correlation, the California flyer owned by Robert S. Lytle, had that distinction in the Derby and the Preakness. He finished sixth to Determine in the Derby and second to Hasty Road in the Preakness. His odds for tomorrow have been set at 3-1, and Jockey Eddie Arcaro won't do him any harm as he substitutes for the suspended Willie Shoemaker.

Guerin Rides High Gun

Eric Guerin, who won the Belmont last June with Native Dancer, will be aboard High Gun, winner of the Peter Pan Handicap a week ago. Riverina will be ridden by Henry Moreno. The filly gets in with 121 pounds, five less than the colts.

Others in the classic, to be televised and broadcast on the CBS network from 3:30-4 p.m. EST, are:

Hal Price Headley's Pinetum; the C. T. Chenery entry of Prince Hill and Permian; Limelight, from the Rancho Casitas stable of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoffman; C. V. Whitney's Fisherman, second in the Peter Pan and son of the 1947 winner, Phelanx; John Barry Ryan's Buttevant; the Fodcatcher Farm's Chevation; the Llangollen farm's Porterhouse, 2-year-old champion in 1953; Mrs. J.R.H. Thouron's War of Roses; William Goadby Loew's Kilimanjaro, a surprise entry; and the Greentree Stables Palm Tree.

Six Players Involved In 3-Way Swap

Chisox Get Martin, McGhee Of Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, June 11 (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics, Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators today completed a three-way swap of six players and some cash, with southpaw Morrie Martin, the chief figure in the deal, winding up with the White Sox.

Paul Richards, manager of the American League leading White Sox, said Martin, "if he pitches the way we know he can, could mean the pennant for us. He's extra pitcher we need."

Frank Lane, the super-trader of the White Sox, started the deal rolling by swapping Constantine (Gus) Keriazakos, $60,000 bonus pitcher, to the Senators for John (Sonny) Dixon and $20,000. The Athletics coveted Dixon so Lane had to get the 29-year-old relief specialist to do business with the A's.

No sooner did Lane have Dixon, he wrapped the pitcher in a package with another hurler, Al Sima, and promising rookie outfielder Bill Wilson and sent them along with a reported $20,000 to the A's for Martin and outfielder Ed McGhee. It is reported that McGhee, who came to the A's in 1953 was tossed in at the last minute when Richards expressed need of another outfielder to replace Wilson. McGhee is hitting .229.

Earle Mack, general manager of the Athletics, said Wilson was the key player in the deal so far as he was concerned. Dixon is rated a pretty good relief pitcher and so is Sima, said Mack. Richards said he thought Wilson had the makings of a star but that the Sox needed another solid left-hander to help in a bid for their first pennant in 25 years.

Stablemate Imbros In 9-Horse Field

INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 11—(INS) — Determine and Imbros, Andy Crevolin's formidable stakes stars, headlined a powerful nine-horse field named today for tomorrow's inaugural running of the $100,000-added Californian at Hollywood Park.

Strongest competition for the Crevolin tandem is anticipated from Fleet Bird, Calumet Farm's hard-knocking mile and three-sixteenths world record holder, and Ada L. Rice's Pet Bully, flown in for the rich event from the east, where he won his last four starts.

The race will have a gross purse of $121,000 if all nine entries go to the post, with a net of $75,300 to the winner; $20,000 for second, $15,000 for third, and $10,000 for fourth.

Macks Flatly Reject Offer By Syndicate

Group Would Purchase A's For $3 Million

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP) — The Mack family has flatly rejected an offer by a Philadelphia syndicate to buy the Athletics at a price that would have brought Connie Mack and sons Roy and Earle a net profit of $2,000,000.

A baseball source informed the Associated Press today that this group, eager to keep the Athletics in Philadelphia, had offered Roy and Earle Mack, who control the club, $3,150,000 for it.

Such an offer would have netted the Mack brothers a profit of $700,000 each and their father a profit of $600,000.

The brothers gained control of the A's in 1950 after borrowing $1,750,000 from the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. to pay off the other stockholders. They have paid back $600,000 on the loan.

Miksis Wallops Homer In Tenth To Halt Giants

Eddie Hits First Pitch To Win For Cubs, 5-4

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Eddie Miksis' first homer of the season in the 10th inning gave Chicago a 5-4 victory over New York today and inflicted only the second Giant defeat in 10 games on a surging western trip.

The Giants, whose defense collapsed for six errors, had a four-game winning streak snapped and temporarily dropped from a first-place tie with the Dodgers, who play at Cincinnati tonight.

Miksis' game-deciding blast on the first pitch in the tenth by Marv Grissom, fifth Giant pitcher, gave the victory to Cub reliefer Jim Davis, who is Grissom's nephew.

The Giants had tied the score at 4-4 in the ninth on Ray Katt's first major league homer with none aboard.

Grissom had hurled from the ninth inning, following starter Jim Hearn, Hoyt Wilhelm, Alex Konikowski and John McCall.

Davis, who got his second victory against two losses, entered the game in the 10th—the third Cub pitcher after starter Johnny Klippstein and Hal Jeffcoat.

Katt's homer in the ninth came when it appeared Jeffcoat had salvaged the third triumph of the season over the Giants for Klippstein.

Saportas, Townsley, Chenoweth, Pearce Are Among Trainers

Jockeys Tony Russo, Patsy Grant, Jimmy Edwards, Eugene Dosher and Ray Arduini have signified that they will ride at Fairgo during the 10-day race meeting of the Cumberland Fair Association, June 23-July 3.

Russo, who has performed at the local half miler in the past, rode for the Buddah Stable last year. During the recent Pimlico meet Tony was aboard Don Jr. the day the latter finished in a dead heat for win.

Grant, Dosher and Arduini all have ridden at Fairgo in past meets.

Among the better known trainers who will race here are R. L. Townsley and C. P. Chenoweth, and Gordon Pearce, Baltimoreans; Mrs. George A. "Babe" Saportas, Jr., of Monkton, Md., and O. DeCrescent.

Mrs. Saportas who will handle a string of four horses, has been the top trainer at Fairgo five times in the last six years. In 1952, the Babe set an all-time record when she saddled 11 winners in 10 days. The previous mark here was held by J. Bernard Bond, Claude M. Feltner and A. L. Leith Sr., who were deadlocked at nine wins each.

Chenoweth' string includes Good Valley, Cross O'Lite and Loksgood. DeCrescent's contingent includes Dutch King, a two-times winner at Ascot Park, and Suebarb. Joyce's Joy, Moose Pone, Fleeting Heart, Logic and Clari de Lune are the Pearce breadwinners.

Joey Giardello Decisions Jones

Philadelphian Cops Unanimous Verdict

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Joey Giardello staved off a furious last round finish by Bobby Jones, the man the wise guys couldn't "fix", to win an unanimous decision in a bristling 10-round match tonight at Madison Square Garden. A chorus of boos greeted the verdict. Giardello weighed 159¼, Jones 157.

Jones, who spurned an alleged $15,000 bribe offer by heavyweight Clarence Henry a week ago, went all out in a driving finish that didn't quite convince the judges.

Judges Frank Forbes and Artie Aidala and Referee Al Berl each voted 5-4-1 for the Philadelphia slugger who was upset by Pierre Langlois in his last fight, May 21. The AP card also was 5-4-1 for Giardello in a very close finish.

O'Brien Breaks Shotput Record

LOS ANGELES, June 11 — (INS)—Parry O'Brien tonight cracked his world record for the shotput with a tremendous heave of 60 feet, 10 inches.

The throw was the second of two tosses which broke his standing world record of 60 feet, 5¾ inches set in the same Los Angeles Coliseum where he competed tonight.

An earlier throw which also broke the record cleared 60 feet, 6 inches. Thus, within five minutes O'Brien established two new unofficial world records.

Connolly, Hart Cop Net Tests At Wimbledon

U. S. Wightman Cup Team Takes 3-0 Lead

WIMBLEDON, England, June 11 (AP) — Maureen Connolly and Doris Hart rang up easy singles victories but America's doubles team was hard-pressed to send the U.S. off to a 3-0 lead over Great Britain today in the Wightman Cup tennis competition.

Mrs. Margaret Osborne du Pont of Wilmington, Del., the U.S. cup captain, and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., had to fight back from a 1-5 deficit in the third set to beat a pair of 19-year-old English girls, Angela Buxton and Pat Hird, 2-6-6-4, 7-5.

Miss Connolly, America's world tennis queen from San Diego, Calif., cut down Helen Fletcher in the opening singles match, 6-1, 6-3. With a powerful backcourt attack, the California miss won the first set in 13 minutes and took a quick 4-0 lead in the second set before letting her opponent come up for air.

Miss Hart, America's No. 2 woman player from Coral Gables, Fla., was little less impressive in blowing aside Ann Shilcock, 6-4, 6-1. Only at the start of the opening set when Miss Hart lost her service to let the score be tied 2-2 was there any semblance of a contest.

The English doubles team—Miss Hird was a last minute substitute—completely outplayed the Americans in the first set and after yielding the second, 6-4, raced to a 5-1 advantage in the third.

With victory in sight, the inexperienced English girls became obviously tense and the Americans won six straight games for the match. The U.S. tandem, four times Wimbledon women's doubles champions, steadied their games and waited for the excited British lassies to make mistakes.

Tomorrow Miss Brough will play Miss Buxton and Miss Connolly will team with Miss Hart against Misses Fletcher and Shilcock in doubles.

Bolt's 126 Heads Field In Virginia

Shelley Mayfield Is Second With 129

By ROBERT MOORE

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., June 11 (AP)—Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., held a three-stroke advantage midway in the $15,000 Virginia Beach Open golf tournament today despite an all-time record-tying round of 60 fired by chunky Wally Ulrich of Maplewood, N. J.

Bolt shot a seven-under-par 62 to go with his round of 64 yesterday for a 36-hole total of 126, which also tied a record.

Ulrich, though, was the big show in this second round of play over the par 69 Cavalier Yacht and Country Club course. The 205-pound native of Austin, Minn., came within a foot of breaking the 18-hole Professional Golfers Assn. record held jointly by Ted Kroll, Al Brosch and Bill Nary.

Ulrich came up to the 18th hole needing only a par to tie the record and a birdie to establish a new one. He dumped his tee shot on the back edge of the green of the 200-yard water-flanked hole. Taking a long while to line up the 30-foot putt, Ulrich made the shot. The ball went straight as an arrow toward the hole and rolled dead less than a foot short.

Despite his 60, Ulrich, who had a 71 yesterday, was tied only for third with two other players — Pete Cooper of Branford, Fla., and George Fazio of Clementon, N. J. The trio had totals of 131, five strokes off Bolt's pace.

Sandwiched between Bolt and these three was Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., who toured the 6-065-yard layout today in 64 for a two-round total of 129.

Dodgers Win, 10-8

CINCINNATI, June 11 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers splurged with six runs in the seventh inning to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs 10-8 tonight despite a quintet of Red home runs, three in one inning. The victory gave Brooklyn, a full game lead in the tight National League race.

Brooklyn	100 020 610—10 17 0
Cincinnati	200 000 420— 8 14 0

Loes, Milliken (3), Hughes (7) and Campanella; Fowler, Wehmeier (7) Perkowski (7), Smith (9) and Bailey.

Fight Postponed

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP) — The postponement jinx struck down a third championship boxing match today when the Archie Moore-Harold Johnson light heavyweight title bout, scheduled for San Francisco, was postponed.

Ira Watkins Of Mt. Savage High Crowned Batting Champ

Kirtley Leads In Extra Base Belts With 11

Watkins' Average .471 Robeson 2nd; Clem 3rd; Mt. Savage Batted .319

Ira Watkins, second baseman and leadoff man in the Mt. Savage High School batting order, was the top hitter in the Bi-State Interscholastic Baseball Conference for the 1954 season with an average of .471.

Bob Kirtley

Watkins enjoyed the longest hitting streak of any player in the league by connecting safely in 11 consecutive games, gathered 24 bingles in 51 at bats in 15 contests and also was the conference's top run getter with a total of 21 to his credit.

Ira nosed out teammate Dick Robeson by the margin of seven points for the batting championship. The latter led in base hits with a total of 26, two more than Watkins, but finished in the runner-up spot with an average of .464.

Third place went to Marvin Clem, Bruce High outfielder, who belted the ball at a .432 clip.

Mt. Savage Batted .319

Mt. Savage was the hardest hitting team in the league with a .319 average on 145 hits in 455 official at bats. LaSalle scored the most runs, a total of 116, and also got as many hits. Allegany finished as runner-up in team batting with .288 while LaSalle was third with .285. LaSalle had the best defensive mark, holding the opposition to 41 runs in 15 games, and also registered the most shutouts, a total of five. Mt. Savage was the only team to escape a shutout defeat.

Allegany's Kirtley was the pacesetter in the extra base hitting department with a total of 11 among his 20 safeties. Bob rapped nine two-baggers and two round-trippers. Harry Iser, Allegany, and Dick Robeson, Mt. Savage, were tied at 10. Iser led the circuit in homers with three, banged a pair of triples and five two-baggers while Robeson racked up five doubles, three triples and two four-baggers. Other top extra base wallopers were Walters, Mt. Savage, eight, and Yantz, Beall, seven. Bobby Blank, Mt. Savage; D. Morris, Flintstone, and Harris, Shuck and Spearman, LaSalle, were tied at six each.

Led Extra Base Hitters

Leaders in extra base hitting were:

Triples—Clark and Yantz, Beall; Kline, Fort Hill, and Harris, LaSalle, tied at four each.

Home Runs — Iser, Allegany, 3; D. Morris, Flintstone, 2; Robeson, Mt. Savage 2; Kirtley, Allegany 2. (Twenty-one home runs were hit by players of the nine teams).

WHIFFED 96 BATTERS—Ronnie Rice, Beall High School's rubber-armed righthander, was the strikeout king of the Bi-State Conference for the 1954 season with 96 victims in 74⅓ innings pitched. Rice, a junior, appeared in 13 of the 16 games played by the Mountaineers and hurled more innings than any pitcher in the league. That's not dirt near his right eye. He suffered a cut on the face below the eye in a play at the plate in the next to last game of the season with Valley High and the eye appears slightly swelled. Ronnie had to leave the game in the third inning but he was back in action the next day.

Ronnie Rice Is Strikeout King, Bobby Dawson Tops Winners

Beall Pitcher Whiffed 96; Bobby Posted Nine Wins; Markley Had 5-1 Record; Wilkinson "Control" Ace

Allegany High's Bobby Dawson was the winningest pitcher, Donnie Wilkinson, Bruce High's freshman ace, was the stingiest hurler in the matter of bases on balls given up and Ronnie Rice, of Beall High, was the strikeout king of the Bi-State Interscholastic Baseball Conference for the 1954 season.

Bobby Dawson

Dawson worked on the rubber in 15 of the 16 games played by Allegany High's co-champions, scored nine of the 13 wins credited to the Campers, lost two games, gave up only 13 free tickets in 67½ innings, struck out 78 and went the route in seven contests. Bobby came in as relief pitcher in six games and won three of them.

Issued Only Four Walks

Wilkinson showed superb control in issuing only four bases on balls in 38 innings and turned in a season's record of four wins and two losses.

Appearing in 13 of the 16 games played by Beall High, Rice pitched more innings than any pitcher in the league—a total of 74⅓—and beat out Bobby Blank, Mt. Savage High's workhorse, for the title of "strikeout king" by the margin of 96 to 85.

Markley's Percentage Tops

Jesse Markley, of Fort Hill, turned in the highest winning percentage among twirlers who had toiled in 10 or more games, posting five wins against a single loss for a mark of .833.

Hugh Nolan led the LaSalle pitching staff with a 4-1 record while Wayne Murray, Fort Hill; Bill Roberts, LaSalle; Dave Marple, Bruce and Blank of Mt. Savage, were the other regulars who finished with marks of .500 or better.

No-Hitter For Nolan

LaSalle's Nolan is credited with pitching the only no-hit game of the season, beating Fort Hill, 5-1. Marple of Bruce chalked up a pair of one-hitters and Jim Fletcher of Flintstone turned in a one-hit performance. A total of twelve two-hitters were registered. Dawson, Markley and Blank had two each.

Blank had the most strikeouts in a single game, fanning a total of 15 Fort Hill stickers. On two occasions he mowed down a dozen batsmen. Markley and Rice accomplished the latter once each.

Ira Watkins Of Mt. Savage High Crowned Batting Champ

Kirtley Leads In Extra Base Belts With 11

Watkins' Average .471 Robeson 2nd; Clem 3rd; Mt. Savage Batted .319

Ira Watkins, second baseman and leadoff man in the Mt. Savage High School batting order, was the top hitter in the Bi-State Interscholastic Baseball Conference for the 1954 season with an average of .471.

Bob Kirtley

Watkins enjoyed the longest hitting streak of any player in the league by connecting safely in 11 consecutive games, gathered 24 bingles in 51 at bats in 15 contests and also was the conference's top run getter with a total of 21 to his credit.

Ira nosed out teammate Dick Robeson by the margin of seven points for the batting championship. The latter led in base hits with a total of 26, two more than Watkins, but finished in the runner-up spot with an average of .464.

Third place went to Marvin Clem, Bruce High outfielder, who belted the ball at a 432 clip.

Mt. Savage Batted .319

Mt. Savage was the hardest hitting team in the league with a .319 average on 145 hits in 455 official at bats. LaSalle scored the most runs, a total of 116, and also got as many hits, Allegany finished as runner-up in team batting with .288 while LaSalle was third with .285. LaSalle had the best defensive mark, holding the opposition to 41 runs in 15 games, and also registered the most shutouts, a total of five. Mt. Savage was the only team to escape a shutout defeat.

Allegany's Kirtley was the pacesetter in the extra base hitting department with a total of 11 among his 20 safeties. Bob rapped nine two-baggers and two round-trippers. Harry Iser, Allegany, and Dick Robeson, Mt. Savage, were tied at 10. Iser led the circuit in homers with three, banged a pair of triples and five two-baggers while Robeson racked up five doubles, three triples and two four-baggers. Other top extra base wallopers were Walters, Mt. Savage, eight, and Yantz, Beall, seven. Bobby Blank, Mt. Savage; D. Morris, Flintstone, and Harris, Shuck and Spearman, LaSalle, were tied at six each.

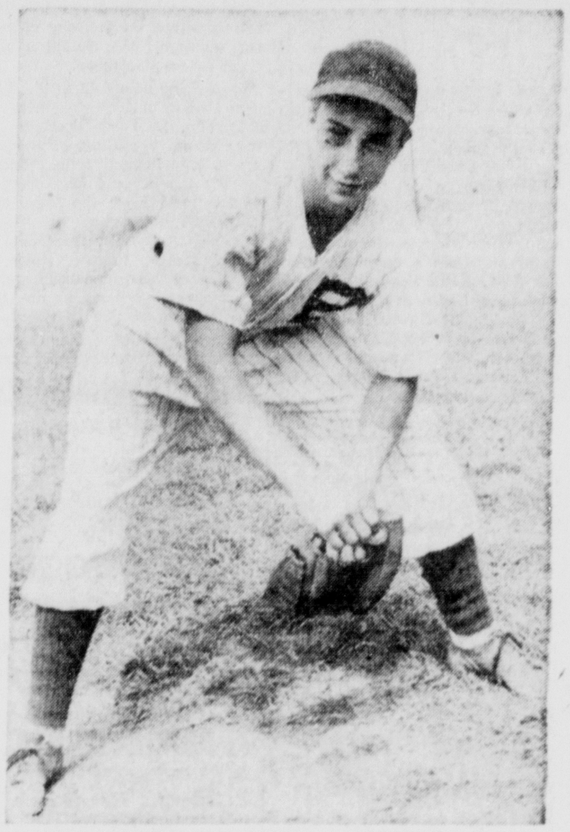

Led Extra Base Hitters

Leaders in extra base hitting were:

Triples—Clark and Yantz, Beall; Kline, Fort Hill, and Harris, LaSalle, tied at four each.

Home Runs — Iser, Allegany, 3; D. Morris, Flintstone, 2; Robeson, Mt. Savage 2; Kirtley Allegany 2. (Twenty-one home runs were hit by players of the nine teams).

WHIFFED 96 BATTERS—Ronnie Rice, Beall High School's rubber-armed righthander, was the strikeout king of the Bi-State Conference for the 1954 season with 96 victims in 74⅓ innings pitched. Rice, a junior, appeared in 13 of the 16 games played by the Mountaineers and hurled more innings than any pitcher in the league. That's not dirt near his right eye. He suffered a cut on the face below the eye in a play at the plate in the next to last game of the season with Valley High and the eye appears slightly swelled. Ronnie had to leave the game in the third inning but he was back in action the next day.

Beall Pitcher Whiffed 96; Bobby Posted Nine Wins; Markley Had 5-1 Record; Wilkinson "Control" Ace

Allegany High's Bobby Dawson was the winningest pitcher, Donnie Wilkinson, Bruce High's freshman ace, was the stingiest hurler in the matter of bases on balls given up and Ronnie Rice, of Beall High, was the strikeout king of the Bi-State Interscholastic Baseball Conference for the 1954 season.

Bobby Dawson

Dawson worked on the rubber in 15 of the 16 games played by Allegany High's co-champions, scored nine of the 13 wins credited to the Campers, lost two games, gave up only 13 free tickets in 67½ innings, struck out 78 and went the route in seven contests. Bobby came in as relief pitcher in six games and won three of them.

Issued Only Four Walks

Wilkinson showed superb control in issuing only four bases on balls in 38 innings and turned in a season's record of four wins and two losses.

Appearing in 13 of the 16 games played by Beall High, Rice pitched more innings than any pitcher in the league—a total of 74⅓—and beat out Bobby Blank, Mt. Savage High's workhorse, for the title of "strikeout king" by the margin of 96 to 85.

Markley's Percentage Tops

Jesse Markley, of Fort Hill, turned in the highest winning percentage among twirlers who had toiled in 10 or more games, posting five wins against a single loss for a mark of .833.

Hugh Nolan led the LaSalle pitching staff with a 4-1 record while Wayne Murray, Fort Hill; Bill Roberts, LaSalle; Dave Marple, Bruce and Blank of Mt. Savage, were the other regulars who finished with marks of .500 or better.

No-Hitter For Nolan

LaSalle's Nolan is credited with pitching the only no-hit game of the season, beating Fort Hill, 5-1. Marple of Bruce chalked up a pair of one-hitters and Jim Fletcher of Flintstone turned in a one-hit performance. A total of twelve two-hitters were registered. Dawson, Markley and Blank had two each.

Blank had the most strikeouts in a single game, fanning a total of 15 Fort Hill stickers. On two occasions he mowed down a dozen batsmen. Markley and Rice accomplished the latter once each.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—The controversial "New York Confidential," which the late, great editor Jack Lait wrote with Lee Mortimer, has Broderick Crawford in the starring role.

Clarence Green and Russell Rouse, the producing-writing-directing team, chose Brod as more nearly typifying the main character in the book.

On this they had the approval of Edward Small, who is making the picture in association with Green and Rouse on wide screen with a big budget.

You'll hear the voices of the late John Barrymore and W. C. Fields on Edgar Bergen's final show of the year June 20. These two popular stars did interviews with Charlie McCarthy years ago.

The voice of Rudy Vallee, who put Edgar in his first radio show, will also be heard, as well as Marilyn Monroe's proposal from Charlie, a show she did a year or more ago.

In fact, the only "live" parts will be scenes between Nelson Eddy and Edgar, who reminisce about these past guest spots with the inimitable Charles.

Playing Hagar, the gypsy fortune teller in "Carmen Jones," is a very remarkable woman—Madame Sul-Te-Wan, 81-year-old actress. At the age of 63, Madame Sul-Te-Wan went broke and applied for a job as a chorus girl at 20th Century-Fox. Believe it or not, she landed the part because she had the figure of a girl! At 70 she married for the third time.

Dorothy Dandridge, Pearl Bailey and Henry Bellafonte have checked in at the RKO studio to report to Producer Otto Preminger. And there's another Bellafonte in the cast — Henry's Brother, Dennis, who is just home after three years with the Marine Corps in Korea.

Ava Gardner has rented a house at Lake Tahoe, just a stone's throw from where Lana Turner served her time when she divorced Bob Topping. Ava's two sisters accompanied her when she left for Nevada on Thursday.

Meanwhile, MGM is looking for another actress to take Ava's place in "Love Me Or Leave Me," which is ready to go. Ava said she didn't like the script but the studio says Ava wanted to get her divorce from Frank Sinatra over.

At long last Vincente Minnelli and his bride, Georgette, are getting away on a honeymoon. In 10 days they'll take off for South America on what they call a combination honeymoon and scouting expedition. Vince will look for jungle locations for his next at MGM, "Green Mansions."

Georgette hasn't really minded the long postponed honeymoon. She was very upset about her sister's, Christiane Martel ("Miss Universe"), mariage breaking up after just a few short weeks, and she was glad to be here with her.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The Jack Buetels having luncheon together at the Tail O' the Cock, very lovey-dovey and all kissed and made up.

Armand Deutsch, producer, leaves MGM after "Green Fire" is finished to take his pretty Harriet on an extended European honeymoon.

Bill O'Dwyer was nowhere around, but Ella Logan was at the Plymouth House with Bob Calhoun.

Pat Kennedy probably would have laughed at the idea of playing in TV six months ago, but now that she's Mrs. Peter Lawford, she's going to appear in the opening scenes of "Dear Phoebe," Peter's TV show.

Thoroughly enjoyed the Xavier Cugat show at Ciro's. Abbe Lane, Cugie's really beautiful wife, has improved greatly. She and Cugie open in Paris and he told me they'll give two concerts each day.

Juan Manuel, the Mexican singer, sang "Guadalajara" as I've seldom heard it. He also sang Cugie's song "Louella Can Tell"—not to be confused with the original "Louella" song, which has been out for a long time and which will soon be recorded.

Alan Ladd, who has so far refused to do TV, will be the guest of Red Skelton on Red's first show, which is the summer replacement for Arthur Godfrey.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Any problems today? Take your own personal inventory and decide! Top to toe, how do you compare with the woman you'd like yourself to be? For example:

Is your hair becomingly styled? Is your skin fresh and clear? Do your eyes sparkle? Does your makeup look natural? Is your voice pleasingly pitched?

You can make up your own personal questionnaire. The problems are for you to recognize, for me to help you solve. So suppose we lead off with some of the problems that most frequently pop up in the morning mail.

Your Thighs

How can thighs be built up? All forms of exercise will help to tighten and firm the thigh muscles. Walking is good—so is massage. Instead of bending from the waist to any task, squat down. And try this exercise: Standing with feet together, your hands on the back of a chair, rise to your toes and squat to the floor. Spread your knees wide. In squatting position, stretch the right, then the left leg to the side. Rise to your full height and repeat the sequence 10 to 15 times.

Is it possible to reduce the bosom? Certain exercises that firm the chest muscles will at the same time decrease measurements if practiced faithfully. While you're standing straight, feet astride, swing the arms in broad backward circles, 10 times slowly and 10 time rapidly. Another exercise (to be performed in sitting position) is this: arms over your head, thrust them back 6 times; repeat with arms at a slight outward angle, 6 times; then 6 hard pushes with arms at shoulder level.

Can hair be removed from the legs without shaving? Certainly! You may use a depilatory cream or liquid or an abrasive mitt or stone. Or you may have your legs waxed, a process which is necessary about every four weeks on the lower legs, every eight weeks or so on the thighs.

A Facial Problem

How can you get rid of blackheads? Remove stubborn blackheads near the skin surface this way: wring out a washcloth in hot water and hold it over the problem area. Remove it after a few seconds and gently press around the blackhead, using a small piece of cotton or a special blackhead extractor. Disinfect the area afterwards with alcohol. Never, never squeeze a blackhead!

Hagerstown Forms Route 40 Association

Edward Wolfe, president of the Route 40 Association in the Cumberland area, addressed a meeting in Hagerstown on Tuesday of persons interested in forming a unit of the association there.

The session was held in the Tortuga Restaurant with Charles J. Startzman, motel operator in Hagerstown, presiding. The association was formed some months ago for the purpose of attracting tourist trade from the West and Mid-west to Maryland via U. S. Route 40. At present the organization is seeking to have Route 40 in Western Maryland modernized to encourage tourists to use this route when traveling eastward.

Other officers of the Cumberland unit who attended the Hagerstown meeting were T. R. Wolford, vice president; William A. Wilson, secretary; Robert Wills, treasurer; Olie K. Teeter, Roy B. Drummer, Eldon Shipway and Walter Mills, director.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—The controversial "New York Confidential," which the late, great editor Jack Lait wrote with Lee Mortimer, has Broderick Crawford in the starring role.

Clarence Green and Russell Rouse, the producing-writing-directing team, chose Brod as more nearly typifying the main character in the book.

On this they had the approval of Edward Small, who is making the picture in association with Green and Rouse on wide screen with a big budget.

Academy Award winning Crawford reports for work July 19.

You'll hear the voices of the late John Barrymore and W. C. Fields on Edgar Bergen's final show of the year June 20. These two popular stars did interviews with Charlie McCarthy years ago.

The voice of Rudy Vallee, who put Edgar in his first radio show, will also be heard, as well as Marilyn Monroe's proposal from Charlie, a show she did a year or more ago.

In fact, the only "live" parts will be scenes between Nelson Eddy and Edgar, who reminisce about these past guest spots with the inimitable Charles.

Playing Hagar, the gypsy fortune teller in "Carmen Jones," is a very remarkable woman—Madame Sul-Te-Wan, 81-year-old actress. At the age of 63, Madame Sul-Te-Wan went broke and applied for a job as a chorus girl at 20th Century-Fox. Believe it or not, she landed the part because she had the figure of a girl! At 70 she married for the third time.

Dorothy Dandridge, Pearl Bailey and Henry Bellafonte have checked in at the RKO studio to report to Producer Otto Preminger. And there's another Bellafonte in the cast — Henry's Brother, Dennis, who is just home after three years with the Marine Corps in Korea.

Ava Gardner has rented a house at Lake Tahoe, just a stone's throw from where Lana Turner served her time when she divorced Bob Topping. Ava's two sisters accompanied her when she left for Nevada on Thursday.

Meanwhile, MGM is looking for another actress to take Ava's place in "Love Me Or Leave Me," which is ready to go. Ava said she didn't like the script but the studio says Ava wanted to get her divorce from Frank Sinatra over.

At long last Vincente Minnelli and his bride, Georgette, are getting away on a honeymoon. In 10 days they'll take off for South America on what they call a combination honeymoon and scouting expedition. Vince will look for jungle locations for his next at MGM, "Green Mansions."

Georgette hasn't really minded the long postponed honeymoon. She was very upset about her sister's, Christiane Martel ("Miss Universe"), mariage breaking up after just a few short weeks, and she was glad to be here with her.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The Jack Buetels having luncheon together at the Tail O' the Cock, very lovey-dovey and all kissed and made up.

Armand Deutsch, producer, leaves MGM after "Green Fire" is finished to take his pretty Harriet on an extended European honeymoon.

Bill O'Dwyer was nowhere around, but Ella Logan was at the Plymouth House with Bob Calhoun.

Pat Kennedy probably would have laughed at the idea of playing in TV six months ago, but now that she's Mrs. Peter Lawford, she's going to appear in the opening scenes of "Dear Phoebe," Peter's TV show.

Thoroughly enjoyed the Xavier Cugat show at Ciro's. Abbe Lane, Cugie's really beautiful wife, has improved greatly. She and Cugie open in Paris and he told me they'll give two concerts each day.

Juan Manuel, the Mexican singer, sang "Guadalajara" as I've seldom heard it. He also sang Cugie's song "Louella Can Tell"—not to be confused with the original "Louella" song, which has been out for a long time and which will soon be recorded.

Alan Ladd, who has so far refused to do TV, will be the guest of Red Skelton on Red's first show, which is the summer replacement for Arthur Godfrey.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Any problems today? Take your own personal inventory and decide! Top to toe, how do you compare with the woman you'd like yourself to be? For example:

Is your hair becomingly styled? Is your skin fresh and clear? Do your eyes sparkle? Does your makeup look natural? Is your voice pleasingly pitched?

You can make up your own personal questionnaire. The problems are for you to recognize, for me to help you solve. So suppose we lead off with some of the problems that most frequently pop up in the morning mail.

Your Thighs

How can thighs be built up? All forms of exercise will help to tighten and firm the thigh muscles. Walking is good—so is massage. Instead of bending from the waist to any task, squat down. And try this exercise: Standing with feet together, your hands on the back of a chair, rise to your toes and squat to the floor. Spread your knees wide. In squatting position, stretch the right, then the left leg to the side. Rise to your full height and repeat the sequence 10 to 15 times.

Is it possible to reduce the bosom? Certain exercises that firm the chest muscles will at the same time decrease measurements if practiced faithfully. While you're standing straight, feet astride, swing the arms in broad backward circles, 10 times slowly and 10 time rapidly. Another exercise (to be performed in sitting position) is this: arms over your head, thrust them back 6 times; repeat with arms at a slight outward angle, 6 times; then 6 hard pushes with arms at shoulder level.

Can hair be removed from the legs without shaving? Certainly! You may use a depilatory cream or liquid or an abrasive mitt or stone. Or you may have your legs waxed, a process which is necessary about every four weeks on the lower legs, every eight weeks or so on the thighs.

A Facial Problem

How can you get rid of blackheads? Remove stubborn blackheads near the skin surface this way: wring out a washcloth in hot water and hold it over the problem area. Remove it after a few seconds and gently press around the blackhead, using a small piece of cotton or a special blackhead extractor. Disinfect the area afterwards with alcohol. Never, never squeeze a blackhead!

"DANCE THROUGH A WEEK TO BEAUTY"

Created EXCLUSIVELY for readers of this column, delightful solo dance steps anyone can do. They bring increased grace and reduced measurements as proved by test. Hagerstown Forms Route 40 Association

Edward Wolfe, president of the Route 40 Association in the Cumberland area, addressed a meeting in Hagerstown on Tuesday of persons interested in forming a unit of the association there.

The session was held in the Tortuga Restaurant with Charles J. Startzman, motel operator in Hagerstown, presiding. The association was formed some months ago for the purpose of attracting tourist trade from the West and Mid-west to Maryland via U. S. Route 40. At present the organization is seeking to have Route 40 in Western Maryland modernized to encourage tourists to use this route when traveling eastward.

Other officers of the Cumberland unit who attended the Hagerstown meeting were T. R. Wolford, vice president; William A. Wilson, secretary; Robert Wills, treasurer; Olie K. Teeter, Roy B. Drummer, Eldon Shipway and Walter Mills, director.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Times Have Changed

Radio, like Great Britain, has been on an austerity diet for a good many years now and, in the last five years, has quietly changed its patterns to fit the new facts of life in a world dominated by television. Recently "Sponsor" magazine conducted a seven-month survey dedicated to finding out what radio was up to to meet the challenge of television.

John Crosby

What radio is up to, the survey shows, is what, according to its critics, it should have done in the rich old days of the '30s and early '40s when it was riding high. For one thing, radio, with its mass audience pretty well captured by TV, is concentrating more and more on minority groups or specialized groups.

Just to give you an idea, 26 per cent of 1,568 radio stations reported foreign language programming directed at 31 different nationalities. Most popular language: Polish, with 126 stations carrying it. One stations (in Haverhill, Mass.), carries an hour of Arabic. And a station in Homestead, Pa., in the middle of the mining area, going all out for the foreign vote, devotes 14 hours to Italian, three to Slovak, four to Croation, one to German, six to Jewish, 12 to Polish, seven to Greek and one to Hungarian.

Everybody, it seems, is staying up later, particularly in the big cities. It wasn't so long ago that every radio station signed off at midnight and the all-night station (pioneered by WNEW in New York) was unthinkable. Today there are 11 radio stations in Los Angeles that have after-midnight programs. And there are eight in Philadelphia and seven in New York—most of them broadcasting popular music, though the chatter program is coming up fast.

Overwhelmingly, American radio stations are turning to the music and news formula which WNEW has been successfully running for decades. Classical music, which used to take an awful kicking around, now has a very large auditorium with 922 stations (62 per cent of all of them) broadcasting one or more hours of good music a week and some stations like KFAC in Los Angeles) broadcasting 168 hours a week of fine music.

You take a moderate-sized station like KGPH in Flagstaff, Ariz., and its program for the week breaks down into 22 hours of popular music, nine hours of concert music, 12 hours of folk music (which usually means hillbilly) and 22 hours of news (including sports.) That leaves only 10 hours of network time (ABC) for the big expensive shows we used to hear on radio. That's fairly typical. Radio, in short, is getting awfully local.

"Sponsor" asked whether "personalities" were audience attractions and got some very interesting answers. A station in Waukesha, Wis., replied in answer to the question about their most interesting "personalities:" none, especially. If you had said 'characters,' we could have named a number of them." And a station in Waltham, Mass., to the same question: "Our biggest personalities — Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Kostelanetz." A lot of stations said it featured the station over personalities and among the personality stations was one in Salem, Mass., which boasted that it covered more high school sporting events than any other in the nation? (It covered nine high schools.)

There is lots of sports coverage but the nature of it has changed. Now it's the local college football team, the high school, the minor leagues. A former favorite—boxing—has been abandoned to television (apart from network coverage of very big fights.) Fights almost never appear in the local radio listings any more.

On the other hand, religious and Gospel radio programs are on the rise. Eight hundred and fifteen radio stations have some religious programming and about 100 stations specialize in it to the extent of having at least 10 hours a week of it. Religious programming abounds in the deep South and reaches its apex on WBCO in Birmingham, Ala., with 56 hours a week of it (much of that Negro spirituals).

Much of this Gospel programming is directed at Negro women. The Negro is having more radio beamed directly at him than in any other times in his history with 374 radio stations devoting some time to him (most of it in the South.) Jive attracts a big Negro audience but, if you want the women who presumably do the shopping, it's the Gospel and homemaking that gets the audience.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Radio And Television

Times Have Changed

Radio, like Great Britain, has been on an austerity diet for a good many years now and, in the last five years, has quietly changed its patterns to fit the new facts of life in a world dominated by television. Recently "Sponsor" magazine conducted a seven-month survey dedicated to finding out what radio was up to to meet the challenge of television.

John Crosby

What radio is up to, the survey shows, is what, according to its critics, it should have done in the rich old days of the '30s and early '40s when it was riding high. For one thing, radio, with its mass audience pretty well captured by TV, is concentrating more and more on minority groups or specialized groups.

Just to give you an idea, 26 per cent of 1,568 radio stations reported foreign language programming directed at 31 different nationalities. Most popular language: Polish, with 126 stations carrying it. One stations (in Haverhill, Mass.), carries an hour of Arabic. And a station in Homestead, Pa., in the middle of the mining area, going all out for the foreign vote, devotes 14 hours to Italian, three to Slovak, four to Croation, one to German, six to Jewish, 12 to Polish, seven to Greek and one to Hungarian.

Everybody, it seems, is staying up later, particularly in the big cities. It wasn't so long ago that every radio station signed off at midnight and the all-night station (pioneered by WNEW in New York) was unthinkable. Today there are 11 radio stations in Los Angeles that have after-midnight programs. And there are eight in Philadelphia and seven in New York—most of them broadcasting popular music, though the chatter program is coming up fast.

Overwhelmingly, American radio stations are turning to the music and news formula which WNEW has been successfully running for decades. Classical music, which used to take an awful kicking around, now has a very large auditorium with 922 stations (62 per cent of all of them) broadcasting one or more hours of good music a week and some stations like KFAC in Los Angeles) broadcasting 168 hours a week of fine music.

You take a moderate-sized station like KGPH in Flagstaff, Ariz., and its program for the week breaks down into 22 hours of popular music, nine hours of concert music, 12 hours of folk music (which usually means hillbilly) and 22 hours of news (including sports.) That leaves only 10 hours of network time (ABC) for the big expensive shows we used to hear on radio. That's fairly typical. Radio, in short, is getting awfully local.

"Sponsor" asked whether "personalities" were audience attractions and got some very interesting answers. A station in Waukesha, Wis., replied in answer to the question about their most interesting "personalities:" none, especially. If you had said 'characters,' we could have named a number of them." And a station in Waltham, Mass., to the same question: "Our biggest personalities — Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Kostelanetz." A lot of stations said it featured the station over personalities and among the personality stations was one in Salem, Mass., which boasted that it covered more high school sporting events than any other in the nation? (It covered nine high schools.)

There is lots of sports coverage but the nature of it has changed. Now it's the local college football team, the high school, the minor leagues. A former favorite—boxing—has been abandoned to television (apart from network coverage of very big fights.) Fights almost never appear in the local radio listings any more.

On the other hand, religious and Gospel radio programs are on the rise. Eight hundred and fifteen radio stations have some religious programming and about 100 stations specialize in it to the extent of having at least 10 hours a week of it. Religious programming abounds in the deep South and reaches its apex on WBCO in Birmingham, Ala., with 56 hours a week of it (much of that Negro spirituals).

Much of this Gospel programming is directed at Negro women. The Negro is having more radio beamed directly at him than in any other times in his history with 374 radio stations devoting some time to him (most of it in the South.) Jive attracts a big Negro audience but, if you want the women who presumably do the shopping, it's the Gospel and homemaking that gets the audience.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

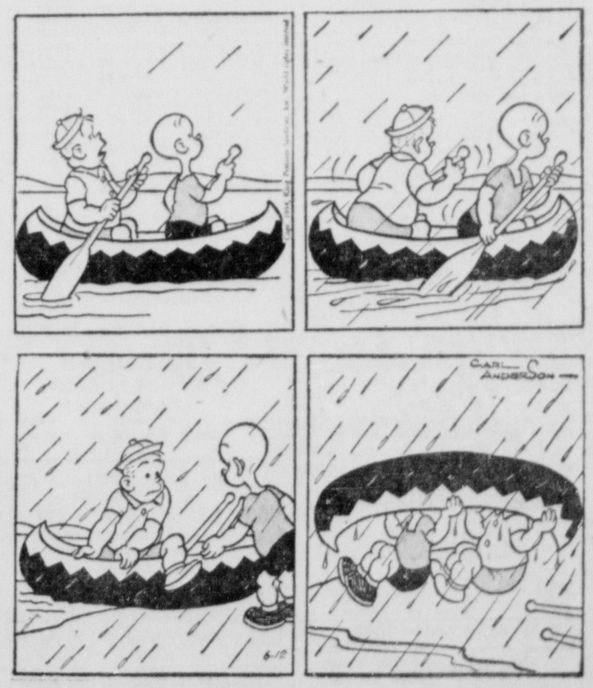

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Clifton M. Smith, who departed this life June 12, 1944.
There's an open gate at the end of the road,
Through which each must go alone,
And there's a light we cannot see,
Our father claims His own.
Sadly missed by his Mother, Sisters & Brother.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Clifton M. Smith, who departed this life June 12, 1944.
There's an open gate at the end of the road,
Through which each must go alone,
And there's a light we cannot see,
Our father claims His own.
Sadly missed by his Mother, Sisters & Brother.

HOW ABOUT A TRADE??

Are you at the age where you would be interested in letting up a little, move out from town and take on a business? You may have members of the family who could adapt themselves to business and aid to the extent that other needed lines could be added to this set-up.
Or, you may be younger and wanting to get out on your own and take over a store and ESSO station with possibilities of expanding to a real full time business, as this once was. Much depends upon Y-O-U, the man who stands behind the counter. This place has possibilities.
Trading a city property would likely put you in possession of this opportunity.

Market Closes On Strong Note For 2nd Day In Row

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—The stock market closed on a strong note today in its second straight recovery session after a two-day break.

Finally there was a rush ahead near the close that put prices up all around.

Gains of 1 to 2 points were frequent in the list, and some soared sharply to around 7 points.

Mid-Continent Petroleum was up 7⅛ at 88, Texas Pacific Land Trust gained 4 at 137, Union Pacific was ahead 6¼ at 130, and Deep Rock Oil gained 4⅛ at 54½.

New York Central jumped forward in a last minute flurry of buying and closed up a point at 23½ as the day's most active issue on 32,100 shares.

Right at the close, it was reliably reported that the forces of Robert R. Young had taken control of the New York Central by a margin of 1,070,000 votes in a proxy fight with the management.

Following New York Central in the most active list was National Theatres up ⅜ at 7⅛, Ashland Oil off ⅛ at 12⅞, and Air Reduction off ¾ at 26⅝.

HOW ABOUT A TRADE??

Are you at the age where you would be interested in letting up a little, move out from town and take on a business? You may have members of the family who could adapt themselves to business and aid to the extent that other needed lines could be added to this set-up.

Or, you may be younger and wanting to get out on your own and take over a store and ESSO station with possibilities of expanding to a real full time business, as this once was. Much depends upon Y-O-U, the man who stands behind the counter. This place has possibilities.

Trading a city property would likely put you in possession of this opportunity.

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—The stock market closed on a strong note today in its second straight recovery session after a two-day break.

Finally there was a rush ahead near the close that put prices up all around.

Gains of 1 to 2 points were frequent in the list, and some soared sharply to around 7 points.

Mid-Continent Petroleum was up 7⅛ at 88, Texas Pacific Land Trust gained 4 at 137, Union Pacific was ahead 6¼ at 130, and Deep Rock Oil gained 4⅛ at 54½.

New York Central jumped forward in a last minute flurry of buying and closed up a point at 23½ as the day's most active issue on 32,100 shares.

Right at the close, it was reliably reported that the forces of Robert R. Young had taken control of the New York Central by a margin of 1,070,000 votes in a proxy fight with the management.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.00 at $123.40. Volume was quite low at 1,630,000.

Following New York Central in the most active list was National Theatres up ⅜ at 7⅛, Ashland Oil off ⅛ at 12⅞, and Air Reduction off ¾ at 26⅝.

Youth Drowns While Rescuing Brother

Cedro Aguallo, 19, Dies In River

By CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

A 19-year-old Wiley Ford youth drowned yesterday evening after he jumped from a makeshift wooden raft into the muddy waters of the Potomac River near the J. E. Miltenberger farm along Route 28 to rescue his younger brother.

The victim was identified as E. Cedro "Tippy" Aguallo, son of Tony and Marguerite (Shriver) Aguallo. The youth, who attended Fort Ashby School, had been employed at the B&O YMCA.

The accident occurred about 5:30 p. m. near the Old Houses Rocks "swimming hole." The boy's body was pulled from the water about 7:26 p. m., some 150 yards below the cliff.

Body Is Recovered

However, the youth's body was recovered about 100 feet above where he sank from view, according to Justice of the Peace and Acting Coroner C. J. Phillips of Ridgeley, who helped pull the body from the river.

Phillips said artificial respiration was useless since the youth had been underwater too long. Assisting in locating the boy's body were Chief of Police Harry Detrick of Ridgeley, and Harold Armbruster, Glenn Isner, and James Raupach of the Cumberland Auxiliary Police Department, who received a call about 5:50 p. m.

The victim had been riding on a raft found some distance upstream, with six other youths, including his brother Benny.

Rescued Brother

As the raft neared the swimming hole, which measures about 50 feet in width and water at a depth of about 10 feet, Benny fell from the craft and his brother, who was described as a good swimmer, jumped in after him.

One of their companions, Charles Grogg, 16, of Wiley Ford, said that after "Tippy" aided his brother to shore, he gave him a push and went out of sight beneath the surface.

His companions notified Miltenberger, who called to his wife to notify authorities. Rescuers were hampered by the heavy undergrowth along the river.

Phillips said the water was approximately 30 feet deep where the body was located. Members of the Civil Air Patrol heard of the tragedy and scanned the scene from the air. They later reported seeing the boy being removed from the river.

Two planes piloted by John F. Wagner and Edward Koch were over the Wiley Ford area at the time of the rescue.

A native of Granville, W. Va., the victim was born November 26, 1934. He was a member of Mt. Zion Church. Surviving are two brothers, Manuel and Benny, at home; four sisters, Mrs. Lola Myers, Miss Marguerite Aguallo, Miss Marie Aguallo and Miss Marianna Aguallo, at home.

The body will be taken to the residence.

Sensabaugh Files Campaign Accounts

French Sensabaugh, who finished fourth in the four-way race for mayor in the city's primary election June 1, was the first of the defeated candidates to file a statement of his campaign receipts and expenditures in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Sensabaugh listed only one contribution, $200 from Green Annan of Pittsburgh, who has had a number of industrial and business interests in Allegany County. His expenditures amounted to $200.29. They included $40 as filing fee, $88 in newspaper advertising, $66.88 for radio advertising and $5.41 for an engraving.

Civil Defense Asks Support During Alert

An appeal for 100 per cent cooperation in the "Operation Alert" which will be conducted here sometime Monday was issued last night by William G. Barger, director of Allegany County Civil Defense.

When the alert is sounded, all traffic must stop. Persons walking along the streets must go into stores or offices and remain inside until the "all-clear" is sounded.

This is an international Civil Defense test involving the United States, Canada, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska.

Theoretically, some 41 cities are being attacked by atomic bombs when the alert occurs. One of the cities is Baltimore.

Barger stressed that Cumberland has a special interest in the test because it is one of the evacuation points in case a real attack should strike Baltimore.

"Operation Alert" is designed to test all local CD staffs to see how they react in time of emergency.

Weather Balloon Found In Treetop Poses Problem

An Oldtown man who found a weather balloon in a treetop yesterday would like to know where to send it.

James Abe, a State Roads Commission employe, said he saw the balloon in a tree near the Boy Scout camp along the Potomac River as he left his house to go to work early yesterday.

The balloon, retrieved later, is about five feet in diameter. A white box attached to the gasbag was full of gadgets, but contained no return address. It could belong to the Weather Bureau, the Navy, the Air Force, or a number of other agencies.

Abe said he'd appreciate it if anyone who knows what he should do with the balloon would call him at 1214-W-3.

City May End Fiscal Year With Surplus

Levy Collections Hit 98 Per Cent

The City of Cumberland ended the 11th month of its fiscal year with 98 per cent of its levy collected. Spending was about on schedule and almost $42,000 of excess collections pointed to the possibility of ending the year with a surplus.

The report on the condition of the levy as of May 31, issued yesterday by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, showed that $1,373,217.95 of the all-time high levy of $1,400,630 levy had been collected.

Tax Levy Is Over

The tax levy collections were at the $988,746 mark, representing 100.2 per cent of the levy.

Still to be collected is $69,397.95, including $39,076.70 from general licenses, $13,566 from general and special incomes, $5,193 from police fines, $1,780.30 from bingo taxes and $8,631 from recreation income.

Excess collections totaling $41,985.90 may become surplus if the uncollected revenues come in and departments keep within their budgets.

Hope For Surplus

Officials had little hope, however, that the surplus could hit the $66,000 mark—the amount which was on hand to begin the present fiscal year.

Funds spent for city operations by May 31 totaled $980,997.25, or 83 per cent of the operating budget. This represents 83.7 per cent and is about par since the fund contains $15,000 for the new South Cumberland fire truck which is to be delivered soon.

Overdrawn were the Airport Expense fund, by $2,116.51; Engineering, $1,524.16, city employees pension fund, $52.96, and humane, $72.90.

Bananas Burned When Rail Car Catches Fire

A Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Banana Special, a 41-car freight train carrying nothing but bananas, stopped at the station here about 12:40 a. m. yesterday while en route west from Baltimore.

When Edmund L. Nolan of LaVale, a banana inspector, opened one of the cars, he was almost overcome by fumes. As soon as he realized the car was on fire he notified city firemen and a pumper from East Side Station was sent to the scene.

The blaze was blamed on a defect in the car's cooling system which set floorboards in the car on fire. About 50 of the 300 bunches of bananas on the damaged car were destroyed. The car was placed on a siding, re-iced and sent on its way later yesterday.

Va.; Miss Mary Fahey, 448 Baltimore Avenue; Mrs. Lucia Ferrato, 10 James Street; Mrs. Naomi Hall, 307 Pulaski Street; Mrs. Mary A. Harbaugh, 114 Bellevue Street; Mrs. Julia M. GOP Candidates At Rally

Two of the four candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor of Maryland, James W. Gum, of Montgomery County, and Temus R. Bright, of Baltimore, are seen last night with Mrs. Elaine Palmer, president of the Young GOP Club of Allegany County, at the "Meet Your Candidates" get-together held in the City Shrine Club. Over 250 attended, including all of the Allegany County candidates. Governor McKeldin was unable to attend since he was attending ceremonies in Frederick, marking the return to Maryland of the Catoctin forest reserve.

Fire Detection Units Placed In County Home

Fire detection units are being installed in the Allegany County Home and Infirmary and at Sylvan Retreat, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker reported yesterday.

He said the first of the devices were installed in the County Home and that other buildings will eventually be protected by the automatic devices.

The detection units, he added, can be set to break circuits when temperatures reach the danger point, setting off the fire alarm system.

All box alarms at the county buildings automatically summon an engine and ladder company from Central Fire Company, and the East Side ladder company.

The first of the units were installed in the kitchen, boiler room and coal bin of the County Home.

Chief Parker added that the Cumberland Fire Department has completed its annual inspection of the buildings and will recommend relicensing by the State Board of Health.

He said the two-day inspection included a check on the housekeeping, fire hazards, fire fighting equipment and the plan for evacuating patients in case of fire.

A few recommendations, chiefly regarding the types and location of fire extinguishers, were made following the inspection, the fire chief said.

Byrd Seeks State Juvenile Agency; Mahoney Replies

Industrial Tax Issue Reappears

BALTIMORE, June 11 (AP)—H. C. Byrd called today for a state agency to deal with juvenile delinquency while George P. Mahoney, also seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, criticised Byrd for advocating State subsidized industry.

Both candidates issued statements through their Baltimore campaign headquarters after vigorous campaigning in Western Maryland.

Byrd said, "My deep interest in young people and my concern over the need to reduce juvenile delinquency is such that as governor, I will immediately appoint a committee headed by workers, not figureheads, to study this problem at all levels . . . and aid in developing this program at the base roots.

Would Seek New Setup

"The State of Maryland does not now have an adequate State agency to deal with this problem and as governor I shall propose such an agency to the Legislature to include additional juvenile courts as may appear appropriate," Byrd said.

Mahoney, meanwhile, in the 84th of 100 campaign statements he has promised before the June 28 primary, said Byrd continued to "me-too" the Mahoney platform on the subject of industrial development and attracting new industries to Maryland.

He referred to Byrd speeches in Annapolis Tuesday night and in Cumberland Wednesday night.

Mahoney said "most of the Byrd program for industrial development amounts to a phonographic playback of my own ideas . . . with one important departure.

"No Subsidies"

"On April 6, in discussing the subject of industrial development, I remarked that I favored a program 'to meet the competitive industrial challenge of other regions without resorting to actual state subsidies.'

"That, of course, wouldn't appeal to Dr. Byrd who has always been an advocate of the 'Santa Claus' approach to government."

Mahoney said Byrd wants to bring new industries into the state "even if we have to subsidize them for, say five years, through tax rebatements."

"That's the Byrd approach, all right. Subsidize 'em, get 'em on the State payroll and let the home owners, the farmers, the taxpayers of Maryland carry the burden," Mahoney added.

Orr Requests Speedy Trial On Information

Attorneys for James Orr, member of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners against whom a criminal information was filed yesterday in Circuit Court, filed a petition asking for an immediate trial of the case.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher docketed the information in connection with transactions within the past year between the commissioners and the Commercial Press, in which Orr has a partnership.

In his petition, Orr waives his right to indictment by the Grand Jury of Allegany County and seeks an immediate trial by the court sitting as a jury, upon the criminal information.

It was signed by William H. Geppert in behalf of the law firm of Gunter and Geppert. The firm will be joined in defense of the commission by former Judge D. Lindley Sloan.

The information states that on "divers days and occasions from June 23, 1953 to December 9, 1953 Orr unlawfully benefitted or profited directly and indirectly from 11 agreements or contracts for printing totaling $591.15."

It was stated that the Ankeney Company, Inc., this city, sublet the 11 agreements or contracts to the Commercial Press of which Orr was a partner and shop manager contrary to the Article 25, Sections 26 and 27 of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

In Section 28 of Article 25 of the Code the penalty for violation of the two sections, if convicted, is forfeiture of office and any share of the agreement or contract.

The case will be heard in Circuit Court at 10 a. m. Monday before Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish of Hagerstown without a jury. Judges George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris will not participate in the trial.

National Shriners Hospital Day Sunday To Recognize Work For Crippled Tots

National Shriners Hospital Day will be observed throughout North America on Sunday to mark the 33rd anniversary of the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children.

Cited as the world's greatest philanthropy, the 17 hospitals which have been established throughout North America have ministered to more than 250,000 crippled children during the past three decades.

A nationwide tribute to the work of the hospitals will be carried over the Mutual radio network Sunday at 9:30 p. m.

Treatment is available without cost and without regard to race, color or creed. The only question the Shrine has ever asked is whether the child has no chance of having its body mended except in one of the 17 temples of mercy.

Shriners will recall that the first hospital was built shortly following the adoption, on June 14, 1921, of a report which recommended the establishment of hospitals for the free treatment of crippled children.

Treatment is provided free for children up to 14 who are afflicted with diseases or deformatives which may be treated by orthopedic surgery.

The philanthrophy is financed by $5 yearly assessments on all Shriners

At present, the hospitals have a capacity of 990 beds. The cost of treatment averages $10.01 a day and the cost per patient averages $941.92, since the average stay of patients is 94 days.

Clinic services are provided at all of the Shriners hospitals in addition to services performed for those who were admitted.

A number of Cumberland area children are among the quarter of million children who have received aid at the hospitals.

The requirements for entrance are simple. The child must be in need of treatment which cannot be financed by his parents, and must be sponsored by a Shriner.

Application blanks may be secured at the City Shrine Club from Charles U. Wiebel, recorder of Ali Ghan Shrine.

Youth Drowns While Rescuing Brother

By CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

A 19-year-old Wiley Ford youth drowned yesterday evening after he jumped from a makeshift wooden raft into the muddy waters of the Potomac River near the J. E. Miltenberger farm along Route 28 to rescue his younger brother.

The victim was identified as E. Cedro "Tippy" Aguallo, son of Tony and Marguerite (Shriver) Aguallo. The youth, who attended Fort Ashby School, had been employed at the B&O YMCA.

The accident occurred about 5:30 p. m. near the Old Houses Rocks "swimming hole." The boy's body was pulled from the water about 7:26 p. m., some 150 yards below the cliff.

Body Is Recovered

However, the youth's body was recovered about 100 feet above where he sank from view, according to Justice of the Peace and Acting Coroner C. J. Phillips of Ridgeley, who helped pull the body from the river.

Phillips said artificial respiration was useless since the youth had been underwater too long. Assisting in locating the boy's body were Chief of Police Harry Detrick of Ridgeley, and Harold Armbruster, Glenn Isner, and James Raupach of the Cumberland Auxiliary Police Department, who received a call about 5:50 p. m.

The victim had been riding on a raft found some distance upstream, with six other youths, including his brother Benny.

Rescued Brother

As the raft neared the swimming hole, which measures about 50 feet in width and water at a depth of about 10 feet, Benny fell from the craft and his brother, who was described as a good swimmer, jumped in after him.

One of their companions, Charles Grogg, 16, of Wiley Ford, said that after "Tippy" aided his brother to shore, he gave him a push and went out of sight beneath the surface.

His companions notified Miltenberger, who called to his wife to notify authorities. Rescuers were hampered by the heavy undergrowth along the river.

Phillips said the water was approximately 30 feet deep where the body was located. Members of the Civil Air Patrol heard of the tragedy and scanned the scene from the air. They later reported seeing the boy being removed from the river.

Two planes piloted by John F. Wagner and Edward Koch were over the Wiley Ford area at the time of the rescue.

A native of Granville, W. Va., the victim was born November 26, 1934. He was a member of Mt. Zion Church. Surviving are two brothers, Manuel and Benny, at home; four sisters, Mrs. Lola Myers, Miss Marguerite Aguallo, Miss Marie Aguallo and Miss Marianna Aguallo, at home.

The body will be taken to the residence.

Civil Defense Asks Support During Alert

An appeal for 100 per cent cooperation in the "Operation Alert" which will be conducted here sometime Monday was issued last night by William G. Barger, director of Allegany County Civil Defense.

City May End Fiscal Year With Surplus

Levy Collections Hit 98 Per Cent

The City of Cumberland ended the 11th month of its fiscal year with 98 per cent of its levy collected. Spending was about on schedule and almost $42,000 of excess collections pointed to the possibility of ending the year with a surplus.

The report on the condition of the levy as of May 31, issued yesterday by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, showed that $1,373,217.95 of the all-time high levy of $1,400,630 levy had been collected.

Tax Levy Is Over

The tax levy collections were at the $988,746 mark, representing 100.2 per cent of the levy.

Still to be collected is $69,397.95, including $39,076.70 from general licenses, $13,566 from general and special incomes, $5,193 from police fines, $1,780.30 from bingo taxes and $8,631 from recreation income.

Excess collections totaling $41,985.90 may become surplus if the uncollected revenues come in and departments keep within their budgets.

Hope For Surplus

Officials had little hope, however, that the surplus could hit the $66,000 mark—the amount which was on hand to begin the present fiscal year.

Funds spent for city operations by May 31 totaled $980,997.25, or 83 per cent of the operating budget. This represents 83.7 per cent and is about par since the fund contains $15,000 for the new South Cumberland fire truck which is to be delivered soon.

Overdrawn were the Airport Expense fund, by $2,116.51; Engineering, $1,524.16, city employees pension fund, $52.96, and humane, $72.90.

Bananas Burned When Rail Car Catches Fire

There were some hot bananas near the Queen City Station early yesterday morning.

A Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Banana Special, a 41-car freight train carrying nothing but bananas, stopped at the station here about 12:40 a. m. yesterday while en route west from Baltimore.

When Edmund L. Nolan of LaVale, a banana inspector, opened one of the cars, he was almost overcome by fumes. As soon as he realized the car was on fire he notified city firemen and a pumper from East Side Station was sent to the scene.

The blaze was blamed on a defect in the car's cooling system which set floorboards in the car on fire. About 50 of the 300 bunches of bananas on the damaged car were destroyed. The car was placed on a siding, re-iced and sent on its way later yesterday.

All box alarms at the county buildings automatically summon an engine and ladder company from Central Fire Company, and the East Side ladder company.

The first of the units were installed in the kitchen, boiler room and coal bin of the County Home.

Chief Parker added that the Cumberland Fire Department has completed its annual inspection of the buildings and will recommend relicensing by the State Board of Health.

He said the two-day inspection included a check on the housekeeping, fire hazards, fire fighting equipment and the plan for evacuating patients in case of fire.

A few recommendations, chiefly regarding the types and location of fire extinguishers, were made following the inspection, the fire chief said.

Byrd Seeks State Juvenile Agency; Mahoney Replies

Industrial Tax Issue Reappears

BALTIMORE, June 11 (AP)—H. C. Byrd called today for a state agency to deal with juvenile delinquency while George P. Mahoney, also seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, criticised Byrd for advocating State subsidized industry.

Both candidates issued statements through their Baltimore campaign headquarters after vigorous campaigning in Western Maryland.

Byrd said, "My deep interest in young people and my concern over the need to reduce juvenile delinquency is such that as governor, I will immediately appoint a committee headed by workers, not figureheads, to study this problem at all levels . . . and aid in developing this program at the base roots.

Would Seek New Setup

"The State of Maryland does not now have an adequate State agency to deal with this problem and as governor I shall propose such an agency to the Legislature to include additional juvenile courts as may appear appropriate," Byrd said.

Mahoney, meanwhile, in the 84th of 100 campaign statements he has promised before the June 28 primary, said Byrd continued to "metoo" the Mahoney platform on the subject of industrial development and attracting new industries to Maryland.

He referred to Byrd speeches in Annapolis Tuesday night and in Cumberland Wednesday night.

Mahoney said "most of the Byrd program for industrial development amounts to a phonographic playback of my own ideas . . . with one important departure.

"No Subsidies"

"On April 6, in discussing the subject of industrial development, I remarked that I favored a program 'to meet the competitive industrial challenge of other regions without resorting to actual state subsidies.'

"That, of course, wouldn't appeal to Dr. Byrd who has always been an advocate of the 'Santa Claus' approach to government."

Mahoney said Byrd wants to bring new industries into the state "even if we have to subsidize them for, say five years, through tax rebatements."

"That's the Byrd approach, all right. Subsidize 'em, get 'em on the State payroll and let the home owners, the farmers, the taxpayers of Maryland carry the burden," Mahoney added.

Orr Requests Speedy Trial On Information

Attorneys for James Orr, member of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners against whom a criminal information was filed yesterday in Circuit Court, filed a petition asking for an immediate trial of the case.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher docketed the information in connection with transactions within the past year between the commissioners and the Commercial Press, in which Orr has a partnership.

In his petition, Orr waives his right to indictment by the Grand Jury of Allegany County and seeks an immediate trial by the court sitting as a jury, upon the criminal information.

It was signed by William H. Geppert in behalf of the law firm of Gunter and Geppert. The firm will be joined in defense of the commission by former Judge D. Lindley Sloan.

The information states that on "divers days and occasions from June 23, 1953 to December 9, 1953 Orr unlawfully benefitted or profited directly and indirectly from 11 agreements or contracts for printing totaling $591.15."

It was stated that the Ankeney Company, Inc., this city, sublet the 11 agreements or contracts to the Commercial Press of which Orr was a partner and shop manager contrary to the Article 25, Sections 26 and 27 of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

In Section 28 of Article 25 of the Code the penalty for violation of the two sections, if convicted, is forfeiture of office and any share of the agreement or contract.

The case will be heard in Circuit Court at 10 a. m. Monday before Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish of Hagerstown without a jury. Judges George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris will not participate in the trial.

Catoctin Area Turned Over To State

THURMONT, Md., June 11 (AP)—Maryland's park lands nearly doubled today with transfer of 4,446 acres of the Catoctin Recreational Area near here from the federal government.

Conrad L. Wirth of Chevy Chase, director of the National Park Service, presented the deed for the land to Gov. McKeldin in a ceremony before about 200 persons gathered in the fieldhouse of the area, about three miles south and west of Thurmont.

U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland introduced the speakers.

National Shriners Hospital Day Sunday To Recognize Work For Crippled Tots

National Shriners Hospital Day will be observed throughout North America on Sunday to mark the 33rd anniversary of the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children.

Cited as the world's greatest philanthropy, the 17 hospitals which have been established throughout North America have ministered to more than 250,000 crippled children during the past three decades.

A nationwide tribute to the work of the hospitals will be carried over the Mutual radio network Sunday at 9:30 p. m.

Treatment is available without cost and without regard to race, color or creed. The only question the Shrine has ever asked is whether the child has no chance of having its body mended except in one of the 17 temples of mercy.

Shriners will recall that the first hospital was built shortly following the adoption, on June 14, 1921, of a report which recommended the establishment of hospitals for the free treatment of crippled children.

Treatment is provided free for children up to 14 who are afflicted with diseases or deformatives which may be treated by orthopedic surgery.

The philanthrophy is financed by $5 yearly assessments on all Shriners

At present, the hospitals have a capacity of 990 beds. The cost of treatment averages $10.01 a day and the cost per patient averages $941.92, since the average stay of patients is 94 days.

Clinic services are provided at all of the Shriners hospitals in addition to services performed for those who were admitted.

A number of Cumberland area children are among the quarter of million children who have received aid at the hospitals.

The requirements for entrance are simple. The child must be in need of treatment which cannot be financed by his parents, and must be sponsored by a Shriner.

Application blanks may be secured at the City Shrine Club from Charles U. Wiebel, recorder of Ali Ghan Shrine.
